APPEAL FOR TRUCE IS MADE TO LEADERS

Union Heads Looking Toward Samuel Gompers Who Is Due In U. S. Today

SITUATION MENACING SAY MEN AT CAPITAL

Action of Shop Men Who Are Offered Raise May Influence Others

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A new strike vote by 500,000 railway shopmen on President Wilson's proposition for wage increases of 4 cents an hour was ordered today by President Bert M. Jewell, of the Railway Employees department of the American Federation of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The nation today waited anxiously for organized labor's answer to President Wilson's appeal for a truce in industrial disputes.

The eyes of labor leaders here were turned toward Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, who is due to land in New York today from Europe. Labor officials here hope Gompers will come to Washington at once.

A meeting of the executive council of the federation is scheduled soon after Gompers' arrival.

While results of the president's appeal on labor as a whole turned about Gompers, early developments are scheduled from railway shopmen whose demands were the immediate cause of the president's appeal and whose leaders are conferring here today.

The government's concessions to other railroad unions will be the same as that given the shopmen. Director General Hines clearly indicated today in a letter to M. O. Wharton, chairman of the board of railroad wages and working conditions.

Will Issue Statement.

The shopmen are to issue a statement setting forth their position on the answer to their demand. This answer offered them an increase of four cents an hour instead of the increase they were asking, ranging from 17 to 27 cents an hour. It was accompanied by an appeal to their patriotism to forego demands for wage increases until normal conditions could be restored.

It was the general belief here that the shopmen would take another strike referendum on the president's reply before acting. It was understood that leaders had promised the president as much during their White House meeting yesterday.

President Wilson's appeal was generally viewed here today in the aspect of its effect on organized labor as a whole, rather than from the aspect of its immediate reaction on the shop men's leaders.

The appeal was addressed to the shopmen, but it was aimed also at other organized railway workers, including members of the four great brotherhoods who are framing demands, and at the steel workers.

The action the shop men take may influence the course of 52,000 railway conductors and 187,000 train men whose officials have placed before the railroad administration demands for wage increases averaging 35 and 40 cents, respectively. Officials of these railroad unions have not yet received a reply to their demands. Trainmen expect their answer September 1.

Situation Most Serious.

Officials of the railroad administration at the White House today made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the present situation.

The president said yesterday that "we are face to face with a situation which is more likely to affect the happiness and prosperity and even the life of our people than the war itself."

Again, he declared that failure to

FLEET MEN GUESTS AT MONTEREY RODEO

MONTEREY, Aug. 26.—The salty tars who have chased subs through stormy seas today met up with the only real rival of the pitching destroyer—the bucking broncho. Scores of the most daring broncho twisters, the most skillful ropers, the best trick riders and nerviest "bull-doggers" who have appeared at the big Salinas rodeo are staking a special wild west rodeo at the Del Monte polo grounds today for the men of the visiting Pacific fleet.

A polo game also is on the afternoon program. Officers with shore leave are enjoying a trip around the Monterey bay section's famous seven-mile drive. A parade of cowboys and cowgirls will precede the dancing tonight.

DANIELS AND PARTY ON WAY TO MONTEREY

ABOARD U.S.S. NEW YORK, Aug. 25. (Delayed).—Secretary Daniels and his party left Hilo, H. I., aboard the dreadnaught New York for Monterey, Cal., at 1 a. m. today. He expects the New York to make fifteen to seventeen knots, arriving at Monterey on the morning of August 31.

MAN'S RIB IS BROKEN BY ONE GOOD SNEEZE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 26.—Wilbur Carpenter, deputy reporter of the Supreme court, sneezed the other day and broke a rib. Carpenter felt the "joy whoop" coming on. He twisted a little and let 'er go. Instead of that grand and glorious feeling that comes with a sneeze, came a twang of pain and the yowl of glee turned into a howl of pain. His ninth rib let go near his spinal column.

STRIKE BRINGS RISE IN PRODUCE PRICES

U. S. Will Sell Surplus Army Goods At Retail and In Mail Order Shops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Retail and mail order stores will be opened September 25 by the war department to sell direct to the consumer, both over the counter and by mail, commodities held as army surplus, it was announced today. Huge quantities of socks, underwear, shirts, raincoats, blankets, gloves, tobacco, soap and other articles will be sold at the stores, which will be opened at zone supply cities, including San Francisco, and also in other large cities throughout the country.

War department experts are now preparing catalogues of goods to be put on sale. These will be made available at every postoffice and postal sub-station in the country. The postoffice department has been requested to establish parcel post sub-stations in each of the stores so that mail orders may be handled promptly. Goods will be distributed evenly throughout the country. All goods will be sold at fixed prices. Mail order goods will be sold at regular prices, plus cost of delivery.

The new plan for disposition of army supplies is even broader than the plan by which surplus food was sold through the parcel post. Under this plan orders were handed to postmasters who sent them to zone supply offices and distributed them to consumers. Under the new plan the postmasters will be eliminated and consumers will order by mail or buy from the army direct.

CHARGE GERMANS DEPORT POLES IN SILESIA

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Charging that the Germans are guilty of the same practices in Upper Silesia as in Belgium in 1914, the Times and Morning Post correspondents in Poland cabled a combined appeal to Great Britain to come to the aid of the Poles.

The dispatches, which appear in today's papers, accuse the Germans of massacres and wholesale deportations of able-bodied men for work in the devastated areas of France and Belgium. There also have been systematic efforts, the correspondents charged, to discredit the Poles and drive them out of Silesia, thus insuring a plebiscite favorable to Germany.

The Morning Post comments on what it describes as "organized crime" committed under the nose of the victorious allies, who are to be held responsible for the massacres—particularly President Wilson and Lloyd George. The latter, according to the Post, imposed the plebiscite policy on Upper Silesia.

"They ought to have known," the paper declared, "that such a policy would provide the Germans with temptation and incentive to crime. It is a hellish conspiracy."

Prey to Hun Cunning.

"We regret to say we believe several of the allied statesmen have fallen too easy prey to German cunning. The plebiscite is now a mockery of justice. The situation demands prompt action and punishment."

"The Poles should be empowered to take possession of Upper Silesia and the Germans informed that they have forfeited all claim to the territory."

"What does Wilson think—he who boasted in Boston that the Poles were his special care? What does he think of the manner in which the Germans have shown contempt for his democratic institutions?"

The correspondents give the details of five shootings at Lysowicz, forty executions at Grossdombrowka and forty at Fredenshutte.

The Times, in an editorial, asserts the Germans have acted exactly as anybody familiar with their history and character would have foreseen.

"The Silesian plan was in accordance with the best traditions of the Wilhelmstrasse," the Times said today. "Ebert, Bauer and Erzberger have no more scruples than the Machiavellian statesmen of old."

A news agency dispatch from Copenhagen reports that the Poles suffered heavy losses Sunday night in fighting at Gleiwitz in the Silesian district.

PTOMAINE POISONING CAUSES DEATHS OF 5

ALLIANCE, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Ptomaine poisoning, it was believed, resulted in the death here today of Colonel C. C. Weybrecht, world war veteran, his wife, two family friends and a waiter. It was believed that olives served at a private dinner party last Friday were the cause.

The chief who prepared the dinner was also stricken and is believed dying. Colonel Weybrecht commanded the 146th Infantry of the 37th Division in the Argonne drive. He was formerly adjutant general of Ohio.

Prohibit Private Meat, Stock Cars, Urged By Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Recommendations that private ownership of refrigerator and live-stock cars be prohibited were made in a report by the federal trade commission today.

The commission declared that all such cars should either be acquired and operated as a government monopoly or owned by the railroads and operated under government license and regulation.

The commission says that the big packers through ownership of the refrigerator and livestock cars are enabled to gain an advantage over smaller independent concerns.

Cars of the "big five" packers are granted "expedited service," the commission charges.

"The cars of small independent packers are misused and diverted," it says, "frequently being out of service for extended periods, in several instances for as long as six months."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 26.—A 15-year-old boy was shot through the head and instantly killed and a man was shot in the leg during the pitched battle at a mine near here today between insurgent coal miners and miners wanting to return to work. The boy was watching the fighting. Not until the youth fell dead did the battle, in which revolvers, rocks and clubs were used, subside. The death frightened conservatives and they returned to their homes. Two men were arrested and held pending investigation.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 26.—Striking miners from Tonopah, Divide, Virginia City and Ely mining districts are deserting the gold and copper fields by the hundreds. Westbound trains to the coast are crowded with miners and others. Mines have closed down. The mine owners and striking employees are still firm against compromise.

BROTHERHOOD MAN NEARLY GETS BIG WALKOUT STARTED

Strike Halts When Wilson Refuses to Talk It Over With Leaders

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—J. J. Forrester, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, is the man who nearly precipitated the proposed nation-wide railroad strike. He wished to discuss the higher wage question, but President Wilson refused to have anything to do with it or any of the brotherhood official until the men who had already quit their jobs, had gone back to work.

This sobered many of the brotherhood men, and made them think a bit more before quitting, with the result that the strike was halted before it had a very good start.

SLAYER'S WIFE WILL HELP VICTIM'S WIDOW

DALY CITY, Cal., Aug. 26.—Turning against her husband, who shot and killed George R. Bryan, Mrs. Charles H. Miller today declared that she will care for Bryan's blind widow; that Miller's charges of undue intimacy with Bryan were untrue, and that Miller had twice threatened her life.

KENYON MEASURE IS ATTACKED BY ARMOUR

Ogden Armour, president of Armour and Company, packers, here today commenting on reports that numerous protests have been wired to congressmen in opposition to the bill. Armour denied any employee of his company "is engaged in wiring in protests against the bill and signing other people's names."

COFFEE OVER 5 CENTS A CUP IS UNLAWFUL

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 26.—Restaurant proprietors who recently raised the price of coffee from 5 to 10 cents a cup face both federal and state prosecution, according to United States District Attorney Saunders.

MAY AGAIN ATTEMPT TO RUN STREET CARS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 26.—Although officials of the Pittsburgh Railway Company refused to issue a statement, strike pickets assert preparations are under way for another attempt to resume trolley service today after yesterday's rioting, during which scores of persons were injured by flying missiles and two cars badly damaged by mobs.

Receivers of the company complained of inadequate police protection.

DON'T NEED YOUR AID, WORD TO OTHERS

Trainmen's Committee Tells Small Unions to Stay at Their Jobs

S. P. SHOP EMPLOYEES ARE BACK AT WORK

Trucks and Steamers Are Transporting Mail; Mexican Laborers Walk Out

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Fears that the present walkout of workers will spread to general strike proportions today galvanized union leaders into organized action to check the movement.

Organized teamsters are restless and threatened to join the walkout of platform men of the local street railway and steam railroad. Persistent rumors that the city would be dark through a strike of employees of the Southern California Edison company was circulated through the city today.

A committee of five under Herbert Kepple was named by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen to visit small union groups and caution them against walkouts. The committee began work immediately upon being appointed.

"Stay on the job; we don't need your help," is the watchword of the trainmen's committee.

Other important developments in the strike today were:

Return to S. P. Shops.

Seven hundred machinists and boiler makers who struck yesterday were back at work at the Southern Pacific shops today. It is reported.

The city council referred to its finance and public utilities committee a resolution demanding municipal ownership of the railroad for immediate consideration and report.

Army trucks, private trucks and steamships were called into service today by acting Postmaster Foster and railway agents to move the accumulation of mail collected the last few days due to the present strike situation. Trucks carried practically eight tons of mail to San Diego this morning. Steamer lines between here and San Francisco are handling the mail situation in smooth running order.

One hundred laborers, mostly Mexicans, employed at the Southern Pacific and Salt Lake shops, joined the "individual" strike this morning. The men paraded to the Labor Temple where a mass meeting was held.

With the extension of the railroad strike to Yuma, Arizona, Southern Pacific officials are preparing for a possible extension to San Francisco.

San Francisco Trains.

Two trains will start from San Francisco today, according to General Passenger Agent McGinnis.

Fourteen cars of two trains are stalled at Yuma, according to information of Southern Pacific officials. The crew left the train objecting to armed guards which had been placed aboard. One hundred switchmen walked out in Bakersfield last night it was reported to the Southern Pacific.

Among the principal Southern California cities now completely tied up by the rail strike are: San Diego, Bakersfield, Santa Barbara and San Bernardino. Auto stage lines still connect these cities with Los Angeles.

Instructions were received by striking trainmen to carry out their contracts from Warren S. Stone, head of the Locomotive Engineers, last night. Meanwhile officials of the Los Angeles railway company claim that full normal daylight service is being given, although cars are crowded to the steps every morning and evening.

Pacific Electric officials also state normal service has again been restored, and that freight began moving yesterday.

No night service is given on either line.

TUSTIN SOLDIER TELLS OF DAYS AT FRONT

Lee F. Kenyon and Bayard Blackmore Arrive Home From Germany

TUSTIN, Aug. 26.—Two Tustin men, Lee F. Kenyon and Bayard Blackmore, who have been with the army of occupation on the Rhine in Germany, arrived home last Wednesday.

Private Kenyon, son of Will H. Kenyon, Holt avenue, M Company, 59th Infantry, Fourth Division, has given a graphic description of his first experience on "the front lines."

Arriving overseas June 28, 1918, in Glasgow, Scotland, they went by train to Ramsey, England. They were allowed to visit an old abbey built in 1000, and continued their journey to the classification camp partly by ship and partly by tortuous hill hikes, resting at intervals in tents where they had good "chow" which was much appreciated.

They traveled four days and nights in box cars, half as large as American box cars. Thirty and forty men to the car, they were forced to sit up on account of limited space. They finally arrived at St. Aignan, France, the classification camp.

Split Into Classes

They were split up into different classes of artillery, infantry and various branches of the service. Kenyon drew the infantry and after a hike of twenty-two miles reached the training detachment and "fell out for chow," he says, "and I want to tell you that it certainly tasted fine."

Then followed long hikes and short rest periods through drizzle and rain and mud, stepping under shelters made of poles driven in the ground and covered with boughs. Their beds were made the same way. They finally arrived at the front by "hot-nail special."

"This shelter was our home for two or three days," he continued. "We followed the front lines as support for nearly a week before relieving them. Two nights before we relieved the boys the 39th Infantry, which was in the lead of the column, was bombed and lost more than 100 men. All along the road the artillery barked incessantly. And the noise! Why, it seemed that all hell had been turned loose."

"Detailed to go for chow, the kitchen proved to be half a mile to the rear. You must remember it rained every day and night up to this time and the heavy boilers were dragged through mud, water and shell holes."

Whizbangs and Rain

"Cold, rainy, and there we sat in the mud, whizbangs coming and going all night and we couldn't tell when 'Jerry' might send a barrage into us. Four o'clock in the morning found us at the edge of the woods lined up in combat groups, ready to go over the top."

This memorable day was Sunday, August 4, 1918, and long will I remember that date. Entering another woods we found German dugouts, and helmets and 'potato mashers' strewn around. We were careful of the latter, as they have a habit of going off if disturbed. Through the second patch of woods 'Jerry' flew down over us so low that we felt the wind from his propellers. Reaching our objective, it proved to be a torn-up village with smoking remnants of German barracks and discharged ammunition. We could not tell where the next shell would hit. As a result there was a keen, exciting tinge to the game. We were introduced to Mr. 'Whizbang' for the first time, and, believe me, he gave us a cordial reception.

"We were destined to meet more excitement and it was really a miracle that our regiment came through as lucky as it did. I won't attempt to relate that experience, however, till next time."

The New York World has devoted an entire front page news section to the valiant deeds of the Fourth Division which they called the "Forgotten Division" because its heroic achievements had not before been recognized. The Fourth Division has organized a Division Association at Neuenahr, Germany. The association published, on the Fourth of July, the first issue of a paper devoted to its interests called "Ivy Leaves." Kenyon has a copy of this interesting paper.

BIG OHIO PICNIC TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY

The big Ohio society picnic at Long Beach has been postponed until Saturday, September 27, because of the street car strike. The outing is expected to be one of the largest ever given by this society in the state. All Buckeye people are urged to attend and take basket lunch, which will be eaten at noon on the picnic deck at the Auditorium. There will be speaking in the afternoon and a program in the evening in the Auditorium.

DUCK WITH FIVE LEGS

NATION WAITING FOR ANSWER OF UNION MEN

Appeal For Truce Is Made By Wilson; Situation Is Declared Serious

solve the price situation now facing the country "will mean national disaster."

On one hand, the president pointed out, is the government trying to reduce prices, and he assured the shop men, with every hope of success. The peak of high prices has been reached, he said.

On the other hand, the shopmen and other unions are demanding wage increases which will furnish a further excuse for high prices and profiteering.

To grant these demands, the president said, would defeat the government's effort and he declared that it is the duty of every citizen "to insist upon a truce in such contests."

Presence of Gompers in Washington will have a beneficial effect not only on the railroad situation, officials feel, but also upon the attitude of organized labor in all crafts, in line with the general appeal of the president. With Gompers here workers will feel their interests are being continually guarded, officials say.

Gompers Due Today Will Face Complex Situation

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Samuel Gompers returns home today from Europe to face the most serious and complex situation that has arisen during his entire regime as president of the American Federation of Labor.

Gompers was aboard the transport George Washington, the "President Ship," which has already played its part in American history. But in landing Gompers on American soil, the famous ship played its part in a drama, the consequences of which are considered second only to the peace conference. The George Washington was due to dock this afternoon.

$500 TO AID WAR RECEPTION FROM JAMES IRVINE

Thousands of the Orange County War Service Recognition Association membership buttons have been sold for $1 apiece; still other members have helped the good cause by paying from $5 to $10 for a button; but it remained for James Irvine, owner of the Irvine ranch, to "come across" with the record price of $500 for a membership in the association, the money to be used in purchasing medals for service men and helping to defray the expenses of the September 9 reception. Irvine not only gave the county park, where the reception will be held, to the Orange county public, but he is helping handsomely in the financial support of the reception.

"I will be very glad to contribute $500 toward the celebration on September 9," writes Irvine from San Francisco, to Chairman Bisby of the reception committee, and enclosed a check for the amount, drawn to the account of the Irvine Company on the First National Bank of Santa Ana.

Service Men Will Be There

The Orange county service men will be at the county park en masse on September 9. That is an assured fact, from the replies which are daily pouring into the committee's office in the W. H. Spurgeon building. Twenty-five hundred men will have been mailed out within a few days to service men or their families, and several hundred of the return cards have already been received.

"Will you be there?" the Yank is asked. "Yes, with bells," came back the reply from one, and "yes" appears on nearly every card. Another soldier replied "Sure." Several who say they will be there add that they haven't transportation as yet.

"Will you be there?" says one card. "I will. Have you transportation to the park? I haven't."

And then there are a few return cards which mutely tell of a son or a brother or a husband who did not return; of one of those gallant American boys who gave his all, and now lies buried under foreign skies. Just three simple words written across the return card, but what heart-burning, what anguish they represent: "Killed in action." They paid the supreme price, these boys of ours, but in their glorious death they performed a service which the world will never forget. As best it may, the War Recognition Association will pay them tribute on September 9, and into the keeping of the nearest of kin, to be treasured for many generations to come, will be placed one of the medals which the association will distribute on that occasion to all returned soldiers, sailors, marines and Red Cross nurses from Orange county.

Return Cards at Once

Although keeping tab on a great amount of detail work, the committee is sending a return postcard to every Orange county man or woman known to have been in the service at their last known address. The return cards should be immediately returned. If there are any service men or women who have not yet received one of these cards or does not receive one within a few days, they are asked to send their names, addresses, organizations to the committee, which is anxious to get in touch with every one. They are also asked to say whether or not they will be present September 9 and whether or not they have transportation arranged to the park.

CAME FOR OVERNIGHT VISIT, IS RESIDENT

C. E. Pollins Decides Santa Ana Is the Place For Himself and Family

Coming down to Santa Ana from Los Angeles three weeks ago for an overnight visit with their old friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morrison, extending the overnight visit to a week when they saw the charms of Santa Ana, C. E. Pollins and family today are residents of Santa Ana, and have rented furnished apartments on East Second street until they can definitely decide which part of the city they want to locate in.

The family is from Cedar Rapids, Ia., where Pollins was secretary of a building and loan association for ten years prior to coming to California a few weeks ago.

They were headed for a point near Oakland in the northern part of the state and had most of their traveling equipment shipped to that point direct from Cedar Rapids.

Completing their visit here they went north, and a few days ago Morrison received a letter from Pollins stating that "he was coming home, that Santa Ana was his home, and the best place he had seen on his travels." The family arrived Sunday evening and yesterday secured the apartments on East Second street.

That's some quick work in deciding on a location and speaks volumes for the attractiveness of Santa Ana as a home city—and also the good judgment of Mr. Pollins and the members of his family.

Mr. Pollins had not visited Santa Ana prior to his week's stay here, but his wife had been here before on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Morrison.

LODI, Cal., Aug. 26.—Friends are enjoying a joke on C. C. Woodworth, college graduate, wealthy farmer and prominent resident, in being asked by a youth to shine his shoes. He believes clothes do not make the man. Woodworth had come from his vineyards of a few hundred acres of Tokays to Lodi and in his haste did not change his clothes. He sat on a chair near a bootblack stand to take a few minutes to read the latest news and heard, "Hey, Guy, get a wriggle on you and shine my shoes." Others heard the order of the youth.

Rev. Welbon Says he Saw Japanese Club Koreans in Campaign to Quell Uprising

Declaring that press reports of Japanese treatment of Koreans are only too true, Rev. A. G. Welbon, for twenty years a Presbyterian missionary in Korea, has arrived here with his family, and will make his home here.

He says that whatever the Japanese government may say in regard to the abuse of Koreans, he himself saw so much of the abuse that he believes that Americans should know the truth, and he proposes wherever opportunity offers to tell the truth concerning conditions in Korea.

Rev. Welbon is the husband of Mrs. Sadie Nourse Welbon, who went to Korea some twenty years ago as a missionary sent out by the First Presbyterian church of Santa Ana. Mrs. Welbon has always considered Santa Ana as her home. On leave, the family lived here for a year, returning to Korea three years ago.

For the first ten years of his work in Korea, Rev. Welbon was at the capital. For seven years he was in the southern part of the country, and for the last three years he has been in the north, with Pyeang as his headquarters. He had charge of the Presbyterian missions in four counties.

After the Chinese-Japanese war, Korea became an independent state. In 1910, Japan secured the annexation of the country, and since that time Japan has maintained jurisdiction over Korea, with soldiers, police and firemen.

Shouted For Joy.
"Last March," said Rev. Welbon, "thirty-three leading men of Korea issued a statement declaring Korea to be a free state. Thousands of Koreans took this statement to be true literally, and they shouted with joy, and it was for shouting that they have been punished."

"The Japanese did not propose to allow the seeds of independence to sprout. They proceeded to terrorize the people into submission. Throughout Korea, where the Japanese were in numbers sufficiently strong to attempt it, wholesale clubbing, bayonetting and abuse of the people took place. The Koreans were absolutely unarmed. If they had been armed and had fought, our red blood might not have been deeply stirred. We would not then have anything to say. But they were without arms and without resistance."

"Troops of Japanese cavalry rode out on the streets and dashed down the street driving the Koreans indoors. They clubbed men, women and children. Hundreds were arrested. I saw many wounded people. I saw Koreans in my own yard unmercifully clubbed and kicked. Some of these were Christians and some were not. They had been driven off of the street and the Japanese followed them into the yards, beating and clubbing. The jails were filled."

"The Japanese took out a special spite upon Christians. While Korea has a population of 17,000,000 and has only 300,000 Christians in it, the Christians are very influential, and the fact that everywhere Koreans were questioned as to their religion and those who answered that they were Christians were treated more roughly, led missionaries to have no doubt but that Christians were singled out for special abuse. Ten of the thirty-three who signed the declaration in March were Christians."

Lived In Terror.
"Firemen dressed in skin-tight clothes, fitted themselves with ears and a tail, and like devils, rushed down the streets with spears, jabbing Koreans,—men, women and children. 'Beginning with March, we lived in terror. Every effort was being made by the Japanese to involve American missionaries. Japanese papers published statements, saying that we should all be driven out of Korea. Afterward, the Japanese government repudiated this attitude, and repudiated many of the acts that we know were committed by Japanese in a wholesale manner and in such unison that there could be no question but that they were parts of a governmental terrorism planned and ordered by the Japanese."

"My own house was never entered and searched by the Japanese, though across the street from me homes of some other missionaries were searched. The declaration of the Japanese was that they were looking for criminals. A Korean paper had been published secretly, and the Japanese police had failed to find the plant, which they wanted to destroy. They came to the conclusion that it must be hidden among the homes of foreigners. We lived in great anxiety because we never knew what charges might be brought against us. Our servants and the members of our church under torture or duress, might say things that were untrue, but which might be used as ground for action against us."

"One missionary in a country place was beaten up. At the time, they thought he was an American. He had his false teeth broken, his glasses broken and his head bruised and cut. When it was found out that he was an Englishman, an apology was offered and he was paid $2500 damages."

Treated Roughly.
"At Pyeang three American women were struck with the butt ends of rifles. It was not contended that they were hurt, but as American citizens they were entitled to be treated without insult. The Japanese were out on the street looking for Koreans, and these three American women were passing from the hospital to their homes. The Japanese who stopped them could not speak Korean, and failed to make known what they wanted them to do. They shoved the women in the direction they wanted them to go by shoving them on the backs with the butts of their rifles."

"The American consul took up this indignity with the Japanese, and the Japanese promised to apologize, but so far as I know, no apology was ever offered."

"The Koreans dare not speak out their own desires. Meetings where opinions concerning the government are expressed are against the law. In our college we could not have a debating society for our students and discuss any subject having to do with the Japanese or political conditions."

"One group of Koreans signed a petition asking for certain rights. That was construed as disturbing the peace, and they were jailed."

"Our principal concern about conditions of the Koreans when I left in June had to do with the welfare of those in prison. The public abuse of Koreans had ceased. The clubbing of men, women and children had had its effect in making the Koreans absolutely submissive. But thousands of Koreans had been arrested and had been thrown into the jails. The jails were crowded, and conditions in them were very bad. We were all fearful that great numbers of them would die during the hot weather, and I am afraid that there has been untold suffering among those Koreans held prisoners."

Rev. Welbon and his wife and four children arrived here yesterday and are living at the home of Mrs. Cope-land, 615 North Sycamore street, temporarily. They expect to locate here, where the children will enter school at once.

"What do the missionaries think should be done for Korea?" was asked.

"We believe that Korea should be given some kind of a government, a protectorate or something under which it can go ahead."

U. S. MARINES TAKE BIG SHOOT HONORS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Members of the U. S. marine corps rifle team took all the honors that were worth while at the national rifle matches, held at Caldwell, N. J. The marine corps team, consisting of Sergeants Thompson and Wiggs, won the final 500-yard stage of the two-man match. They won each stage as the shoot progressed, which gave them an easy victory. They also won the 1000-yard shoot on August 21.

Sergeant J. B. Rhine of the marine corps won the title of being the best rifle shot in the United States. He outclassed more than 500 crack marksmen in the final stage of the president's match. Sergeant Rhine was in one hundred and forty-sixth place, following the first two stages of the match. He won his title over the long range during a heavy thunder shower which made the target difficult to see. Sergeant Rhine, in addition to the winning of the title, will receive an autograph letter from the president and a gold medal.

Corporal Kennedy of the marine corps on August 16 set a new speed record, also a high mark. He made forty-five consecutive bullseyes at six hundred yards without the aid of telescope sights and averaged three shots a minute.

For I, alas, was short of sight.

He fell to earth, I know not where,
For I deemed it a thing exceedingly vile.

I had kicked my opponent instead of him.—Boston Transcript.

MAN OF 72 GETS HIS FIRST TOOTH PULLED

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 26.—"This is the first time I've ridden in one of these chairs," said seventy-two-year-old R. G. Douglas as he stepped into a dentist's chair. "Yank one of them molars," he said. "It'll be the first one I've ever had pulled—but it's a bad one, so let her go." The dentist pulled the tooth, but the patient never batted an eye.

ORDINANCE NO. 644
An Ordinance of the City of Santa Ana, California, fixing the amount of money ascertained to carry on the various departments of the City of Santa Ana, and to pay the bonded indebtedness falling due for the current year, 1919-20, and fixing the rate of taxation for the current year 1919-20, designating the number of cents on each $100.00, for the various taxable property of said city as set by the county assessor of the County of Orange, State of California, and equalized by the Board of Supervisors of said county, and hereby levied on the whole of the taxable property of said city.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, California, does ordain as follows, to-wit:

That whereas, the City of Santa Ana, California, did on the 28th day of December, 1914, by Ordinance elect and determine to avail itself of the provisions of the Act of the 27th day of March, 1895, and the subsequent amendments thereto relative to the assessment and collection of taxes for the municipal corporation of the City of Santa Ana, California, and did in accordance therewith on or about said date file with the Auditor of Orange County, California, a verified copy of said Ordinance pertaining thereto as provided by law;

And whereas, the County Auditor of the County of Orange, State of California, on the 8th day of August, 1919, filed his statement in writing with the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, California, showing the total value of all property within the corporate limits of the City of Santa Ana, subject to taxation for the current year 1919-20, as equalized and collected by the Board of Supervisors of Orange County, California, and fixed the sum as shown by the assessment rolls for said year at $2,474,525.00, exclusive of operative property, and whereas, the amount of money ascertained and fixed by the Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana, California, to carry on the various departments of the City of Santa Ana, and to pay the bonded indebtedness falling due for the current year of 1919-20 is the fixed sum of $108,380,755.75, and whereas, said sum is to be apportioned among the various departments of the said City of Santa Ana, and placed in the general and special funds to pay the current expenses, bonded indebtedness, interest and other falling due for the current year 1919-20 not exceeding 100 cents on each $100.00 for current municipal expenses on the assessed value of all the real and personal property within said municipality over and above the several sums to be raised as provided by law.

Section 1. That the total valuation of the taxable property of the City of Santa Ana, California, shall be used as a basis for the levy of the taxes of the City of Santa Ana, California, and said taxes shall be collected by the Assessor and Tax Collector of the County of Orange, State of California, at the same time and in the same manner county levies are made and collected.

Section 2. That the rate of taxation for municipal purposes and to pay the

The Magic Pig

Remember, when you were a youngster, the china pig that stood on the "what-not" and served as a bank?

Remember how mother used to make you put in all the pennies you worked so hard to earn?

Remember, when a circus came to town, how you would shake out enough to go?

Now—imagine a magic china pig, that might be suddenly filled to the brim after you had put in but a few coins.

You are grown-up now and instead of a china pig, there is the regular savings account.

Instead of pennies there are hard-earned dollars.

Instead of the circus there are expensive luxuries that you simply must have.

And instead of the magic pig there is the VICTORY ACCOUNT that makes it possible for your account to be increased suddenly to $500 or $1000, even though you have deposited only a few dollars.

You deposit about $3.85 or $7.67 in this bank each month. Either yourself or some member of your family is insured when you open your account, and, should this insured person die a few days, months or years after you have started your account, then this bank calls upon the insurance company for enough money to increase your balance to $500 or $1000 at once.

This bank adds interest to the account each year—as in a regular savings account—so that at the end of ten years while you have only deposited $920.40, with the interest you have $1000 to your credit.

If you can't afford $7.67 each month, a $500 account requires deposits of only $3.84—less than 90c a week—12c a day.

Come in—get started—if you can't afford $7.67 now, start a $500 account and deposit $3.84 each month. Surely you can do that.

Then in a few months you can open another.

But whatever you do, don't put off starting—who knows when that $500 or $1000 will be needed.

WHEN ROYALTY STROLLS

"The Prince of Wales, unannounced and attended only by a handful of equerries, slipped ashore today in civilian garb for a Sunday afternoon stroll through the lanes of Point Pleasant Park. For half an hour he walked at leisure, recognized now and again by a few persons in the park, sat down occasionally to view the harbor, and then returned to his vessel, the cruiser Dragon."

This, and much more to the same effect, from a Halifax dispatch. It is the same day after day. The Canadian papers are full of it. Apparently there is nothing worth recording in the Dominion, or anywhere else in the world, so far as Canada is concerned, except the doings of the Prince of Wales.

It is all rather amusing. To think that His Royal Highness should condescend to slip ashore unobtrusively, "attended only by a handful of equerries," and do all the other benign and gracious things recorded of him! Canada, which so loves to boast of its democracy and its independence of Great Britain, is honored, indeed, in all the Prince's goings and comings. It hangs with bated breath on his slightest word, and eagerly grasps at every conventional phrase of politeness uttered by this unassuming young English chap who does his duty as he sees it, and who is doubtless very much bored by it all, and would gladly give his prospective kingdom for a chance to get out of the public eye and live a normal, human life.

Yes, the Prince is probably all right. So are the Canadians, for that matter. And it is safe enough for Americans to laugh at their "toadyism" to that polite young Englishman, because the American people will act just about as absurdly when their turn comes.

ADVERTISING LITTLENESS

It has been regarded as customary in American advertising to play upon the greatness of the institution advertised. Pictures of the enormous factories where the soap is made, or the varnish produced, in order to show how good the article must be for which the demand has grown so big as to require those enormous factories, are common enough in their "This is the House that Jack Built" completeness.

But here comes a great American firm taking whole pages of magazine space to tell how little it is.

There is a small picture of a market basket with lines assuring the public that the firm distributes only about six per cent of the country's butter, eggs and poultry. With pictures of a hide and loin of beef, the consumer is modestly informed that the tanneries in question make less than 15 per cent of the hides into leather, and only about 12 per cent of the meat of the country is dressed by this firm.

"Compared to the entire industry, our business is small" is the one striking line of this whole belittling ad.

The average reader is left guessing as to the motive. Is the firm afraid of being convicted as a big profiteer? Or has it taken to covering the odor of its industries with violet perfume? Or like the child's shadow in the Stevenson poem, has it begun the shrinking process in plenty of time, and when the government investigations get around to it is it "going to get so little that there's none of it at all?"

THE POT THAT MELTS

As a part of its machinery for recruiting the new volunteer army that is replacing the "national army," the War Department is sending on tour a detachment of soldiers made up of men who have themselves experienced the educational benefits of the present army system. They are sent out for these purposes:

"To stimulate the recruiting of illiterate and non-English speaking men by actually showing prospective applicants what has been and what is being accomplished in a given time.

"To refute assertions that the army is not finding practical solutions to pressing problems with which it is confronted.

"To show people that, while others have been talking naturalization, Americanization, the 'melting pot,' etc., the army has gone to work and has established a melting pot that actually 'melts.'"

It would be easy to find men in almost any army unit who could give eloquent testimony to this "melting pot" character of the United States army today. There are acts, too, that speak as loudly as any words they can utter. Of over 100,000 men already enlisted for the new army, more than two-thirds are men only recently discharged from the army. That is fine evidence in itself of what the army has done for young men, both native and foreign-born, and the high regard they have for it.

SALUTE THE SWORD!

Officers high up in the British army have been ordered to resume wearing the sword on all ceremonial parades and at official ceremonies. This has provoked a good deal of British humor because the sword has been so completely outshone by modern weapons of warfare.

If a symbol of military authority is necessary, the sword is probably more satisfactory than anything else which might be suggested. Imagine an officer trying to do the beautiful ceremonial act with a bomb, a trench periscope, a portable machine gun, a cluster of hand grenades or a miniature airplane hanging gracefully at his side!

It seems strange, however, that even the sword is considered necessary to maintain the dignity and authority of marshals, generals and colonels in peace time when it was so promptly discarded for excellent reasons during the war.

Intervention

Orange News

There has been a growing belief that intervention in Mexico is a matter of the near future. The belief is justified by administration activities since the President's return from Europe.

We have had publication of a list of outrages committed against Americans since the Diaz regime running into the thousands. We have had publication of ultimatums said to have been delivered to Carranza. We have had various manifestations of the government's displeasure. All of which means that there is something in the wind blowing toward the Rio Grande.

Probably intervention will be delayed until the League of Nations can be organized and a mandatory for Mexico can be conferred upon us. It is significant that Mexico was not invited to join the league. Certainly governments of no greater integrity were. What appears to be the case is that European statesmen convinced the President that something must be done in Mexico toward the abating of an international nuisance.

The League of Nations will clothe us with authority to intervene and save the President the necessity of reversing his policy of non-intervention.

Tommyrot

San Bernardino Sun

A few foolish radicals are talking of a revolution in the United States.

We may pause for a moment to ask what is the purpose of a revolt, the answer to which is that the only thing a revolt can accomplish is to give the people—all the people, not a part of the people—the right to vote for the kind of officials and the kind of laws they want.

In the United States the right of manhood suffrage is universal. The people have already precisely the kind of officials a majority of them choose and the kind of laws we have depend on the kind of officials we, the people, elect.

Those who chatter of revolt are a small minority, and minority rule will never prevail in this country. If there ever is to be any fighting in the United States it will be to keep a minority from gaining control of the government; let there be no mistake about that.

With all our faults we still have by far the best government in the world. The people know that and anybody who tries to overturn what thousands have died to create and save would receive mighty short shrift, and the sooner they understand that, the better.

Revolt in the United States?

Who would revolt and for what? Tommyrot!

The Main Reliance

New York Tribune

Every one is incensed at the profligate, the hoarder, the speculator in the necessities of life. All favor jailing the guilty and opening the warehouses. There is universal applause for the policy of leaving nothing undone calculated to relieve pressure. If we can't get full relief, then half relief is better than nothing, and no skeptical finger should be pointed at any sincere attempt to help. But in the main we must rely on helping and saving if we would have a more satisfactory balance between the income and the outgo for the elements of the population which are not yet adjusted to the new conditions. Work and save! Increase production and lessen consumption. Wages cannot be forever jumped up if prices are to come down.

Which?

Evolution and Revelation

Wisdom did not begin with this generation, and it is to be hoped that with us it will not end. We steadily toil up the mountain heights seeking knowledge. Below us are the jungles out of which our fathers climbed; above us are the star-lit peaks which our children may reach.

And now three steps from out the wayside shadows the gloomy presence of a cold and pitiless philosophy. It says: "Fatigue not yourself with trying to climb higher. There is no future for you; there is no Divine law; Faith is folly; Hope is delusion; Good and Evil are only words; the Universe is a charnel house of dead languages, dead faiths and dead gods. Go back to the bliss of ignorance; eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you die forever."

The Materialists are mischief-makers. They resemble a ruffian who kicks the crutches from under the arms of a cripple and gives him no other support with which to limp away from the storm. Their dogmas tend to paralyze the consciences and strangle the nobler impulses of men and women, and banish them from the white light of the later centuries to stagnate in gloom among the cave-dwellers of a pre-historic age.

Materialists base their dogmas upon the doctrine of evolution, but evolution, fairly considered, proves rather than disproves that man lives consciously and individually after the death of his body. Evolution is defined in the dictionary as a "gradual unfolding by the operation of natural causes." Darwin's doctrine is that man was not a separate creation, but that by the principle of natural selection, by the law of the survival of the fittest, man has been developed or "evolved" from lower forms of organic life.

There is substantially no difference between the account that Moses gives of the Creation, in the first chapter of Genesis, and the account that Darwin and Huxley and Tyndale and Herbert Spencer give of it in some of the dearest books that ever sent a student of biology to sleep.

The Bible says that "the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep, and the spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters, and God said, 'Let there be light,' and there was light."

Darwin and Huxley say that the origin and creation of the earth and of all suns and planets was by a process of condensation from a nebulae mist.

In our modern language the Spirit of God is called "Force," and Force, according to scientists, accomplished the work of creation. Through innumerable ages there came a vast series of progressive changes. A featureless globe of fire revolved through space by force. The ocean separated from the dry land; thus the birth of the mountains, the leaping of the cataracts, the broad sweep of the plains—Force ever changing its direction, and matter ever changing its form.

Then came life in many forms—living, dying, reforming again. Invertebrates clinging to the Silurian rocks; fishes swimming in Devonian seas; reptiles crawling and walking upon the new-born hills; birds soaring through the air; mammals sporting in antediluvian forests—and, finally, Man.

Are we to stop there? Have all the creative forces of the Universe been exhausted in producing Man? Is he perched upon the pinnacle of Creation? Or is he but one link in the endless chain which stretches out from the depths of night to the home of the singing stars? Man is very wise and very great, but he is far from perfect. Even with his aeroplane any wild goose can outfly him; any dog or horse can outrun him, and, size considered, any grasshopper can out-jump him.

Does not the inexorable logic of Nature demonstrate that if man has been evolved from a lower order of being, so, in turn, a higher order of being shall be evolved from man? If we start with the protoplasm must we stop with the human? Surely the difference between a clam and Mr. Darwin is greater than the difference between Mr. Darwin and almost any kind of an angel.

If an advocate of annihilation can trace himself backward to the time when he was an Invertebrate, wriggling his slimy argument against a future life; or a Saurian, insisting that beyond crocodilism there could be no further development; or an Ichthyosaurus, babbling to his fellow fishes about the impossibility of there being any other world than the watery one in which they were swimming; if the advocate of annihilation can do this, why can he not project himself forward into another existence where he can pass his time explaining to the other devils how he came to make such a mistake in this one?

It is the vexed and disappointed spirit that accepts the doctrine of annihilation. It is the man who "fears his fate too much" and who knows that "his deserts are small" who lays hold on annihilation. It is the sensualist who seeks for the gospel of eternal death among the puerilities of science, and so satisfies himself that he can safely do wrong because there will come to him no day of reckoning.

Consider the human faculties and attributes, and there will not be found in all the lexicons of materialism a formula to account for their origin or define their essence:

What is Hope? It is the rustle of the wings of futurity against the walls of our prison house.

What is Memory? It is a picture gallery of the brain, idylized by the light that never shone on sea or shore and sensitized by the essential bromides of thought and feeling arising from the soul of man.

What is Consciousness? It is the pulse of God, the telephone answering back the story of the eternities.

What is Conscience? It is a toll house on the way to justification—a reminder that we are answerable to a law.

What is Will? It is a helmsman, self-constituted, who yet steers with his eye forever fixed on the polar star of destiny.

What are Intuitions? They are pickets on the outposts of reason.

What is Aspiration? It is a finger-board pointing upward to a state of perfectness to which there is no earthly road.

And are not Aspirations and Intuitions and Will, and Conscience, and Memory, and Hope each as real and as answerable as a mathematical problem? And yet which of these faculties or attributes—the most common to humanity—finds its type or its predicate in matter. Can we put a padlock upon Hope? Or weigh Memory in an apothecary's scales? Or quiet Conscience by the use of acids? Or tie up in a pocket handkerchief the promise and the prophecies and the presentiments which at one time or another fall into every life?

The philosophy of materialism is not proven by evolution; it is not demonstrated by science; it is not confirmed by reason; and Nature, in her infinite processes, rejects it.

"REGISTER"-ETTES

Prohibition, observes a contemporary, has fairly taken some people's breath away.

"He made violent love to you didn't he?" asked the summer girl, pictured in Life. "Dear me, no! He only asked me to marry him."

"If I'm disturbing you, father, I'll stop. I'm only practicing to kill time," said the young girl, pictured in Judge. "Better stop, my dear, I think you've killed him."

"Why do you want to sell this mule, Uncle Ned?" "Boss, I want to get rid o' dat mule." "Of course you do, but why?" "Well, hits dis way," explained the old dandy, according to the Birmingham Age-Herald. "I done got de rheumatism an' 'sides I ain't as spry as I used to be, no how. If I keeps foolin' 'roun' dat mule, some o' these days he's gwine to kick whar I is an' I's gwine to be dar'."

Mosie was a typhoid convalescent, says Everybody's. He had been in the hospital seven weeks, but in all that time no one had succeeded in winning even the faintest smile from the little fellow. Perhaps the sorrows of Russia were still too vivid a memory. And then one day the nurse tickled him playfully under the chin. He looked up with a pitiful little smile. "Oh, so you are ticklish!" said the nurse, laughing. "No, ma'am," he replied, the smile instantly vanishing. "I'm Yiddish."

Mollie, the Wilshire domestic in the service of a Wilmington household, was one afternoon doing certain odd bits of work about the place when her mistress found occasion to rebuke her for one piece of carelessness. "Yo! haven't wound the clock, Mollie," said she. "I watched you closely, and you gave it only a wind or two. Why didn't you complete the job?" Sure, mum, ye haven't forgot that I'm leavin' tomorrow, have ye?" asked Mollie. "I aint goin' to be doin' anny of the new gurl's work!"

Once, while Woodrow Wilson was a professor at Wesleyan University, the laugh was at Wilson's expense; and it came at the very first recitation of one of his classes, when he was making up the roll of the class, says the Christian Advocate. There was a man in the class by the name of Nos (pronounced as two syllables); and when the professor came to his name, he pronounced it with only one syllable. The possessor of the name arose and courteously corrected him, giving it with two syllables, No-e. With some embarrassment because of the mistake, Professor Wilson proceeded with the roll until he came to the name Roe. Not wishing to be caught this time, he pronounced it Roe, with two syllables. The laughter was so violent this time that it was a half minute before Roe could explain to the blushing professor that he belonged to the one-syllable category.

A hard-working farmer in Ohio had sent his son to a good school of music so that he might receive the best instruction from the beginning. It was necessary to buy a violin for him, relates Harper's, but he was such a little chap that his teacher thought that a so-called "half-violin" would do. The father, whose resources had been badly taxed, was loath to part with the money for the instrument, but finally did so. The lad made rapid progress, and became so proficient that a half-violin was no longer good enough for him. Again he went to the music store with his father, to whom the salesman showed the entire stock of violins. The parent was apparently dissatisfied with all of them, and his gaze wandered round the shop seeking for something better. Finally he saw a violoncello. "We'll take that big violin there," said he, as a smile of satisfaction spread over his countenance. "The boy won't outgrow that right away!"

COW TAKES LADDER

AND SPILLS PAINTER

BUHL, Minn., Aug. 26.—A painter, whose name is withheld, high at work painting the water tank at the Wanless Mine the other day, felt a tugging at the bottom of the ladder. He looked down and there, scratching her back, was a black cow.

His proboscis fate flashed into his mind. Bossy took one look upward toward the heavens and saw the painter descending. This time the cow became frightened and ran her horns through the lower rungs of the ladder.

Off she went in a gallop, carrying the ladder, painter, paint and all. The louder he yelled the faster the cow went. It was but a short travel to earth for the painter, who struck the ground with a resounding thud. He escaped uninjured with his feelings ruffled.

To make matters worse Bossy retained ownership of the ladder, which she carried away on her horns. She was caught after she had gone a quarter of a mile.

"Betty, I wish you'd tell Billy and Anna to stop playing with those Ainsworth children. Their social standing in growing a bit questionable."

"Why, is that right?"

American Meat Packers' Association

New York

Chicago, August 22nd, 1919.

To the Editor,
The Register,
Santa Ana, Calif.

Dear Sir:

We have noticed an editorial in the Register of August 7th on "Food Regulation." This article says that there is no question as to the necessity of government taking the food situation in hand.

"Public discontent over food prices," the Register says, "is rising to a high and dangerous pitch of indignation. There is a growing recognition of the fact that some sort of regulation is imperative."

The regulation of the packers proposed in the Kenyon Bill represents a good beginning in this direction."

Government supervision is proposed as a sweeping remedy. How can the government lower meat prices for consumers and at the same time maintain live stock prices for producers, as demanded by both of these interests?

The packers have no control over live stock prices. Live stock prices fluctuate under supply and demand conditions of open, competitive markets, and in harmony with meat and by-product prices. The packer cannot continue to pay more for live stock than the net proceeds on the product warrant.

Profits on all products, including by-products, average only a fraction of a cent per pound sold. This is proved by figures which have been subject to audit by the Federal Trade Commission.

Since cattle prices cannot be lowered and as the packers expenses and profits are unusually small, nothing the government can do to the packer will lower meat prices. If the profit should be eliminated entirely, the cost of a pound of meat would remain practically the same. If the Government should arbitrarily put down prices, regardless of costs, the producer could not stay in business. For the Department of Agriculture has stated that cattlemen are even now threatened with loss.

War-time experiments with government management have generally discredited this policy, and have convinced many thinking men and women that government control is worthless so far as it attempts efficiency and economy.

At a time when private ownership and control are being re-established, a drastic extension of government regulation into private business does not seem advisable. This is especially true because the new venture rests on foundation even less secure than the old.

In the interest of fairness we believe that the readers of the Register, will wish to know the facts on both sides of the case. We are anxious to meet squarely all questions they may raise, because the packers justify themselves on actual conditions and on services rendered, and not at all on general denial.

Yours very truly,
Bureau of Public Relations
American Meat Packers' Association,

W. R. C. PRESIDENT GIVES MORE ABOUT THAT "ROAST"

Editor Register: As president of Sedgewick W. R. C. No. 17, auxiliary of Sedgewick Post No. 17, G. A. R., I wish to place by sanction on the article which appeared in Monday's Register written by Julia A. Garrison, press correspondent of the above named organization, in which she resents the article signed "Francis Sheldon" published in Saturday's Register, which was in criticism of the Woman's Relief Corps and denouncing the women who have recently become members of the order, as having joined solely for the purpose of taking advantage of the cheap rates to the National Convention at Columbus, Ohio.

I wish to say in behalf of the patriotic ladies who comprise our membership that the criticisms were most unjust. While it might be possible that some persons may have presented themselves for admission at this time, for selfish motives, yet unless they are in every way eligible for membership and comply with all requirements, they are not admitted now, any more than they would have been admitted at any previous time, or will be admitted in the future.

Even if there were a few of this class, why should the entire organization be so mercilessly condemned, especially an organization maintaining the high standard the Woman's Relief Corps does?

In contrast with the "Sheldon" criticisms, I wish to have published the following article which appeared in the "Christian Herald" of August 23, 1919, a publication of national reputation. It reads:

"Prominent among G. A. R. auxiliaries at the big annual encampment this year at Columbus, Ohio, September 7-13, are the annual conventions of the National Woman's Relief Corps. They are great rallies of patriotic women pledged to patriotic service. Among many other interesting endeavors, the Woman's Relief Corps maintains its nine-room cottage in Andersonville Prison Park. Generous gifts have been made to the Southern Memorial Fund and to the Red Cross Building for memorial windows."

"Although the Woman's Relief Corps loses by death several thousand members each year, its membership is still very large, there being over 160,000 in 2715 corps. Its annual receipts total over $35,000 and its disbursements for relief are over $20,000 a year."

"The chief aims of this devoted body of women, from its beginning in 1883, have been to provide relief for the Civil war soldier and his dependents; to aid the G. A. R.; to perpetuate the memory of their heroic dead; to find homes for the Union veterans, their widows and orphans, and to emulate the deeds of the army nurses, while faithfully promoting the extension of universal liberty, emphasizing equal rights for all and inculcating lessons of love of country among children and in the local communities."

"Reaching out its sisterly arms overseas, the Woman's Relief Corps has sent an annual Christmas gift of money to that noble society of Civil war veterans in London. Originally composed of 118 men, this venerable company now numbers less than seventy. Most of them are too feeble to join in the meetings. All observe Fourth of July and Memorial Day, and when one passes away, the 'Star Spangled Banner' is always carried at the funeral and a small American flag is placed on the casket as it is lowered into the grave.

"These flags are contributed by the Woman's Relief Corps, as well as money to aid any who are in need, thus forming another line in the tie which binds two great nations in mutual co-operation and good will."

MRS. H. S. COULTER,
President.

MRS. UTTLEY DECLARES

THAT LETTER WAS INSULT.

Editor Register—I have been reading the articles appearing in the Register about the W. R. C. and railroad rates. I want to add that never in the world's history have crushed hearts been beaten in such unison as now, and the loyal women of the Relief Corps have added another bright star to their already wide field of achievement in opening the door of their sanctuary and making it possible for those to mingle their tears with loved ones who have suffered untold agonies during the darkest years in the world's history just passed.

I had two brothers, sons of the British crown. They were also volunteers of the Civil war. They gave the best that was in them for the protection of that for which the American flag stands, and I have a vision of what those brave lads would do to the person who offered what I consider an insult to the American womanhood as did the writer in the article appearing in Saturday's Register.

As to defrauding our government, we are all stockholders in all of its enterprises and if there is any rebate coming our way we surely can use it during these strenuous times.

MRS. SARAH A. UTTLEY.

THE POSTMAN

The postman plods his weary way, And truly earns his monthly pay. In weather good or bad he goes And brings to people joys and woes. His merry whistle heard along Is like a happy, hopeful song; And faces peer without and wait—

A letter may decide their fate. And many look so worn and sad. The postman tries to make them glad. "Next time, perhaps, I'll bring it here." He hurries on, but sees a tear. Now others blame him for delay. And have a lot of things to say. He gives no sharp or harsh reply. Though loaded well with bundles high. From door to door he carries cheer. He's welcome all the livelong year. Oh, postman, when you reach the gate.

Where good St. Peter holds your fate. You enter in that fine retreat. And daily walk the golden street. Where spirits never growl and say: "The postman's late again today." —(Homer Fort, in L. A. Times.)

Symphony Merger Off

That there are to be two Symphony orchestras in Los Angeles this winter, the Los Angeles Symphony and the Los Angeles Philharmonic has been finally and definitely decided after lengthy discussions pro and con.

First plans endeavored to effect a merger between the two organizations under the name of the Los Angeles Symphony, as it is the older and larger established of the two. But the directors refused to concede control of the executive board to W. A. Clark, Jr., who demanded that privilege in view of the fact that he contributed $100,000 against a possible $75,000 from other interested enthusiasts.

The music history classes at high school observe these concerts quite closely and as many of the students who find it possible are urged to attend. This year there will be twelve pairs of concerts Friday afternoons and Saturday evenings beginning October 24-25, and continuing through April. Popular programs will be given Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoons throughout the seasons while a sufficient number of programs will be given for the benefit of the school children. Soloists for the symphony concerts will include Rudolph Ganz and Leo Ornstein, pianists; Helen Stanley, American prima donna soprano; Sophie Braslau, contralto; Albert Spalding, violinist, and solo appearances by the concert master, violoncellist and harpist. The popular concerts will include solo appearance of the local artists and from the personnel of the orchestra.

T. W. Charlton, will travel the long journey to Canada, where the marriage of the two young people will be solemnized.

After the pretty secret became noised about among Miss Charlton's friends, they planned a surprise miscellaneous shower for last evening and showered not only their best wishes upon this popular girl, but many useful and beautiful gifts, daintily tied in parcels and filling a huge clothes-basket. Miss Charlton sat on the floor, with her guests grouped about her, and untied the parcels, all admiring the various articles.

The appointments were prettily carried out in pink and white, lovely pink roses being cleverly arranged in graceful baskets and slender vases. Ice cream and cake, carrying out the color tints, were served on the tables, upon which the game of progressive rook had been enjoyed.

Music was also one of the delightful diversions, the following being those who enjoyed the pleasant event: Misses Mary Hillyard, Myrtle Meyer, Nada Woodward, Mildred Castelman, Sadie Hutton, Margaret and Mary Walkinshaw.

Wisconsin Picnic

Dr. Silas Evans, president of Occidental College and noted orator, has been secured as the speaker of the day at the great Southern California picnic reunion of Wisconsin folks, Saturday, August 30, in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles.

County registers will be opened at 8 a. m. as an immense enrollment is expected. Basket dinners at noon, hot coffee supplied, and the program will commence about 2 o'clock.

Col. Frank H. True, president of the association, will preside. There will be prizes for the oldest man and the oldest woman natives of Wisconsin. Every Badger now in California invited.

Slumber Party

Miss Jane McBurney was hostess last evening at a slumber party for a number of her young friends, and breakfast this morning.

Guests at this jolly affair were: Misses Elizabeth Beals, Evelyn Sheridan, Lucille Van Aiken, Ida Mae Bradley, Ruth McBurney and Master Avery Johnson.

Birthday Party At Modjeska's.

Mrs. James S. Rice is enjoying a delightful outing at Modjeska's in the Forest of Arden, where, during the years of Madame Modjeska's occupancy of the beautiful country home, she was very often an honored guest. Miss Rosa Boyd was the guest of Mrs. Rice last week, returning home Sunday night. A particularly enjoyable event was a birthday dinner at Arden on Sunday, in honor of Mr. James Willis Rice, who, with Mrs. Rice and Master Harvey Rice and Master James Willis, Junior, motored up from Tustin with Mr. James S. Rice Sunday morning. A big birthday cake with a single candle which permitted any amount of guessing was thoughtfully provided by Manager Sweigert.

An informal musicale was one of the delightful features of Sunday afternoon, with Mr. and Mrs. James S. Rice and Mr. James Willis Rice contributing to the program, with other talented visitors now stopping at the resort.

Carrie Jacobs Bond is an interesting guest at Modjeska's at present, and last week sang for Mrs. Rice two of her new songs which have not yet been published.

Hankey-Armitage

The marriage of Carl H. Hankey, son of J. A. Hankey, and Miss Adele Armitage was solemnized last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, J. A. Armitage, of Sunset Beach.

In anticipation of the occasion, the Armitage home had been elaborately decorated with dahlias and with these gorgeous flowers as a background, the couple were united in marriage by Rev. J. G. Kennedy, of the United Presbyterian church of this city, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Preceding the service, the bride's father sang, "My Lady's Bower," and Miss Margaret Crozier of Los Angeles, played the wedding march for the bride and groom, who entered unattended.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served the guests and during the shower of best wishes and congratulations from the company, the bride and groom slipped away on an auto trip to be gone a week or two and upon their return will reside on the Irvine ranch, where Mr. Hankey is engaged as engineer on the Jeffrey ranch.

Mr. Hankey attended the local high school, where he took an active part in student body affairs. He has been but recently discharged from the Merchant Marines, stationed at San Francisco. His wife attended the Huntington Beach high school and received her training as a nurse in the Pasadena hospital. They both have a large circle of friends awaiting their return to welcome them back into their circle.

Attending the wedding from Santa Ana were: Mrs. Earl Morris and her guest, Mrs. I. W. Howard of Berkeley.

LEMON JUICE
TAKES OFF TAN

Girls! Make Bleaching Lotion If Skin Is Sunburned, Tanned or Freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

ley, J. A. Hankey and Miss Helen Hankey.

The announcement of the marriage was cleverly told to a number of Mrs. Hankey's friends recently when Misses Henrietta and Bertha Dickey entertained at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dickey, of Westminster. Miss Armitage and Miss Henrietta Dickey were members of the graduating class of 1916 of the Huntington Beach High School, and close friends.

The affair was exquisite in all its appointments, the unique table decorations being tastefully arranged by Mrs. Joseph Story of Pasadena, a niece of Mrs. Dickey who came over from Long Beach for the afternoon. The decorations represented a beautiful little wedding scene. Toward one end of the table stood a little pergola of white, trimmed with fern, in which stood the minister waiting for the bridal procession coming up an aisle bordered with white crocheted baskets filled with flowers, fern and pink tulle. Outside the pergola stood the groom and best man dressed in evening clothes. The bridal procession was headed by two kewpies in pink, followed by the bridesmaid in pink silk and the bride in white satin. The curtains were drawn and the room lighted by pink candles. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Those having the honor of being guests at this delightful affair were Mrs. Philip Snyder of Balboa, a sister of Miss Armitage; Miss Helen Hankey of Santa Ana, Miss Adele Armitage of Sunset Beach, Misses Helen and Dorothy Hunt of Anaheim, Mrs. Joseph Story of Pasadena, Misses Glenna and Marguerite Wright, Mrs. W. B. McCoy, Mrs. M. J. Latier.

Jolly Week-End

A pretty house party at Laguna Beach was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins of Orange, last week-end. The lively group occupied the Rustic Inn and made the most of the time allowed them enjoying the bathing and dancing, hiking and "feeds" that go with such an affair, as it was in a manner of a farewell "get-together."

Miss Smith and Miss Morrison leave Thursday for the Good Samaritan hospital, where they will continue their work following a very pleasant vacation. Miss Wright is soon to take up her studies at the Los Angeles Normal and Orval Nordeen will return to the Dental College.

The party included the chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins, Misses Mildred Smith, Johnnie Morrison, Juanita Wright; Messrs. Ansel Nordeen, Orval Nordeen and Warren Fletcher.

Have Four New Members

The Daughters of Veterans met in regular session Monday afternoon. Encouraging reports were given showing each standing committee being busy.

Four new members were received, Mrs. Eva Blee, Floss La Bounty, and Misses Nada and Ella Woodward.

A number reported having attended the picnic at Long Beach and enjoying the day, the lunch was all that could be desired. Members from Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Long Beach were in attendance. Many visited the fleet in the afternoon.

The Santa Ana Tent has made no effort to pad its number with people who wished solely to take advantage of the low rate to Columbus to the convention. In fact the members discouraged that kind of people. People who rush into an order to reap a benefit for themselves are of no benefit to the order and rarely become active, helpful members.

DEATHS

MANY MINES IN STATE CLOSED SINCE JAN. 1

Labor Troubles Rank As One of the Principal Causes of Shut-down

The outstanding feature of metal-mining in California during the first half of 1919 is the closing down or the restriction of the operations of some of the principal productive deep mines. A number of mines, according to C. G. Yale of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, have been closed by labor strikes; others by the low prices of the metals produced, the high cost of labor and supplies, the scarcity of skilled labor, and high taxes and other "war conditions." Moreover, for the last few years there has been a very manifest disinclination to invest capital in metal mining, especially in the older centers of the industry. The copper and lead mines have been most materially affected by these conditions, but the larger deep gold mines have also had their troubles. The gravel mines, especially the dredge properties, have not been so seriously affected as the quartz mines, yet their costs have greatly increased and they have had difficulty in obtaining sufficient competent help. The war surcharge cost for electric power has been the greatest burden borne by the gold dredgers, who assert that the voltage has gone down while the rates have gone up.

During the first six months of 1919, the United States mint and the local smelters and refiners, to which most of the newly mined gold in California is sent, received from the mines in the state $390,573 less gold and $24,511 less silver than during the first six months of 1918, but as the annual output of gold is now $17,000,000 to $20,000,000, the difference in the output during the first half of the two years is insignificant. In 1918 there was a falling off in the production of gold, compared with 1917, of over $3,500,000 but the small loss in the first half of 1919 compared with that in the first half of 1918, shows that the decline in output has been materially checked, and that under normal conditions the output of gold in the state will take the up grade.

Increase in Number

In this connection it should be noted that the reduction in the quantity of gold produced may be attributed to a decrease in the output of the larger mines. The number of producing mines in the state has materially increased during the last year or year and a half, but the increase in number is really among the smaller mines, especially the deep or quartz mines, which after a few years of idleness are now being re-opened and re-worked. The Mammoth plant of the United States Smelting & Refining Company, the most productive mine in California, all metals considered, ceased operations on May 15, because of labor trouble. For some time there had been a serious shortage of labor in the Little Backbone and other copper-mining districts, which compelled the Mammoth to keep its smelter operating only on reserve stocks of ore. Early in May, certain of the mechanics, including the machinists, boiler-makers and operators of trains, demanded an increase in wages to those paid when the government price of copper was 26 cents a pound, and also a Saturday half-holiday. The miners themselves did not join in this strike of the mechanics. As the company was operating at a loss and could not obtain ore from the reserve stock piles without locomotor cranesmen, and could not keep the smelter in operation without machinists and boiler-makers, it was forced to close the smelter for an indefinite period, although development work was continued in the Mammoth mine. The closing of the smelter, however, stopped work at a number of other mines which had been shipping ore to it, among others the Afterthought mine. The Penn Mining Company, mining copper in Calaveras county, ceased operations, and the output of the Calaveras Copper Company has been materially curtailed. A number of copper properties in other counties also have stopped work, owing to the low price of the metal and the scarcity of labor.

Inyo Mine Closes

The most productive lead and zinc mine in the state, the Cerro Gordo, in Inyo county, has also been closed down because of labor trouble. A fire in the Argonaut mine, Jackson, Amador county, the most productive of the Mother Lode mines, stopped work there for two months, but operations were resumed June 1. Fumes from the fire hampered work materially in the adjoining Kennedy mine, another large producer. A miners' strike at Grass Valley, Nevada county, the region including the most productive deep gold mines in California, materially curtailed for a time the gold output of the North Star and other large properties. The larger mines have greatly reduced their working force and will not be able to operate to advantage for some time. The lower levels will have to be pumped out.

It is pleasing to note renewed activity at the gravel mines in California, particularly at the hydraulic and drift mines. In Trinity and Siskiyou counties a large number of mines that have been more or less idle have given good accounts of themselves this year, when an abundance of water was available. Some of the townships—old, historic places like St. Louis, Sierra county—are being hydraulicked these days, the towns having been abandoned. In the same region hydraulic mining on a large scale is contemplated also at Howland Flat, Fort Wine, LaPorte, and other mining camps whose history can be traced back to 1849. The Liberty Hill Mining Company is strengthening and raising its large debris dam near Ditch Flat, preliminary to an increase in operations, and the Marysville-Nevada Water Power Company is building a very high restraining dam at Colgate, Butte county, for debris produced by hydraulic mining. This dam will take tailings from gravel mines at Brandy City, Scales, Depot Hill,

Many Watermelons Grown, Price Under Last Year's

HAIL to the watermelon! Whatever the high cost of living may have done to fifty-seven varieties of other eatables, the watermelon stands out gloriously today as something that goes for less now than it did a year ago.

Last summer watermelons got down to two cents a pound, and there the price remained.

This summer, right now, watermelons are selling in the retail markets of Santa Ana at a cent and one-half per pound!

The quality is excellent.

Last year there was a short local crop. Ranchers all over this section, answering the appeal to raise war food, lured by the expectation of high prices, planted their spare ground to beans. The popularity of beans has had a dash of cold water in the face. More than a dash! It was a bath, a long continued bath! A good many farmers got so used to cold water on bean prices that they planted watermelons.

The local crop is big, and while the law of supply and demand has not had much effect on commodities too numerous to mention, it seems to have plugged the watermelon market.

Cantaloupes, too, are plentiful and the price is low. Two and three popular-sized cantaloupes can be bought in the local stores three for ten cents.

By the way, in order to help dispose of their crops, a good many ranchers in the southern part of the state have established stands by the side of the highway. Whereupon a well known automobile club sent forth press copy crying forth against these stands because occasionally automobiles must slow up to avoid running down machines that stop so that purchases may be made. Many ranchers and others hereabouts were decidedly of the opinion that the automobile club was hard up for something to agitate and performed a poor piece of business when it jumped on the watermelon stands.

Getting back to the price of melons, be it observed that if one could live on watermelon alone, the H. C. L. problem would be solved while the watermelon season lasts.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Because no milk or provisions could be obtained for them, owing to the strike on the Pacific Electric, the Board of Supervisors yesterday was obliged to send automobiles and bring back to their homes eighty children in the summer camp in San Gabriel canyon. Only children with tuberculous tendencies were sent to the camp for a two weeks' outing. The strike put a stop to the receipt of supplies.

VENTURA, Aug. 26.—Jack Harding, 8 years of age, is said to be the youngest person ever convicted in this state of unlawful deer shooting. The boy was hunting with his father and fired at a doe that leaped from a thicket, killing the animal. The boy's father took the deer to Forest Ranger Reeves and later paid $50 for the offense in a justice court of Ojai.

VENICE, Aug. 26.—The Southern California Retail Grocers' Association, with families and friends, numbering over 20,000, will invade Venice Labor Day and hold high jinks at the seaside. The "Race Thru the Clouds" ground has been selected as the picnic place, and here tons of California's products will be displayed and distributed.

ONTARIO, Aug. 26.—Pad Varello of Los Angeles and a man known to the Los Angeles police as "Nigger," are dead here following an accident in a stolen motor car belonging to Dr. Thomas Rundle of Oxnard, which turned turtle early yesterday morning at A street and San Antonio avenue. John Rivers, a third occupant of the car, is being held by the officers in connection with the theft of the machine.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Citrus fruit worth a half million dollars is held up by the walkout of steam line carmen and yard men with the danger of almost total loss growing every minute, according to E. G. Dezell, secretary of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. Some of the oranges and lemons are in pre-cooling plants at packing houses but a vast quantity is in box cars and storage places ready to be boxed.

DOWNNEY, Aug. 26.—The fourth annual Downey community fair will be held Thursday and Friday, August 28 and 29. Larger and more varied exhibits in the farm product and fruit departments has been promised than in former years, while the exhibitors in the mechanical tent far exceed in numbers the expectations of the managers of the fair. An attendance of 6000 has been recorded in former years and arrangements are being made to entertain 16,000 people this year.

Newport Hotel, on ocean front.

Horse Valley and other mines in that region. The Mammoth Spring Mining Company has resumed work on its drift mines in the Dutch Flat region, in Placer county.

Work at numerous silver-lead properties in Inyo and San Bernardino counties has been started within the last six months. Some of these are old mines, which have been idle for twenty years or more. Rich silver ores have recently been discovered near Randsburg, in Kern county, and their discovery has stimulated active prospecting throughout that region. The deposits are being mined with local capital.

FIRST OIL WELL TODAY STILL PRODUCING

Mexican In 1865 In Pico Canyon Picks Up Historic Piece of Asphaltum

The first discovery of petroleum in California was made in 1865, by a Mexican hunter, who had followed a deer trail to the head of the Pico canyon in Los Angeles county, near the present town of Newhall.

He came upon a seepage of sticky fluid that was unknown to him. Prompted by curiosity he collected a small quantity of it and took it to the mission settlement at San Fernando. There a Dr. Gelsich, who had formerly resided in Pennsylvania, identified it as petroleum and at once formed a company and staked out claims. In 1870, a shallow well was drilled at the head of Pico canyon, and is said to have produced at the time of drilling between seven and seventy-five barrels of oil per day.

About this time D. G. Scofield formed what was known as the California Star Oil company. Later the Pacific Oil company was formed and the two companies were operated under the same management—C. A. Mentry being field superintendent, and Mr. Scofield vice-president and general manager.

The old well is today the property of the Standard Oil company of California, and stands as the first and oldest well in the state. It has never been a prominent factor in California's great petroleum industry, as it is known today, but while hundreds of wells since drilled haven't even a derrick left to mark their location, "No. 4," as it is known, is still alive and producing.—The Petroleum Record.

TUSTIN NEWS

TUSTIN, Aug. 26.—The Tustin Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night had under consideration the interesting details of the construction of a new kindergarten department. The recent rapid changes in prices of material will probably prohibit building with brick the same as the present building. Hollow tile can be used more economically.

After the school board had reported arrangements already made, they were given authority to continue their investigations.

The ditch committee reported that Harry Lewis was about to resign as representative of the district on the board of directors of the S. A. V. I. Co. and requested that another representative be appointed, but no action was taken.

W. S. McDougall was made chairman of a committee to call upon Mr. Chapman of Fullerton, who has donated $200,000 for the purpose of building a college, with the request that the college be established in Orange county.

A meeting of Tustin Presbyterian Missionary Society was held Thursday at the church. The subject, "Medical Missions," was made very interesting by the leader, Mrs. French. The status of the women of India, China and Korea and how they are being benefited by medical missions was made plain.

Mrs. Charles Willard gave a report from the Presbyterial and Miss Stone was appointed delegate next month.

Willard Forster and Scott Prather, the Tustin autobus owners, have purchased a new machine. It will be a larger bus made to order in the latest up-to-date style, seating twenty to twenty-two passengers. The new bus will begin running September 1.

Mrs. Geo. B. Prather, Sr., entertained her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stafford, of Sacramento, and sister, Mrs. A. F. Eby, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Meastor of Sacramento at a family dinner last Sunday. The Meastors are much pleased with the country and desire to locate in this vicinity.

NOT OCEAN MONSTER, JUST PLAIN DOG FISH

AKELEY, Minn., Aug. 26.—For two weeks residents of this village who patronized the bathing beach at Eleventh Lake have been frightened by a "sea monster" that has been wont to appear in the midst of a crowd in the water. Revolvers and rifles have been used freely in an effort to kill the unknown, but were not successful until this week when Mont Coons ended its life. It was a dogfish about twenty-four inches long.

HOW TO STOP BEING NERVOUS

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Strengthen Weak Nerves and Increase Strength and Vigor.

According to a noted French Scientist, the most effective remedy for nervousness, insomnia and ailments due to depleted nerve force, is a form of organic phosphate known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate.

It is described as a substance which is similar in composition to the phosphorus naturally found in brain and nerve cells, and being easily and quickly assimilated, the work of creating nerve force, strength and vigor begins immediately it is taken into the human system.

There are many reports of astonishing results from its use, some showing remarkable improvement even in stubborn cases of long standing nerve weakness. As there are many kinds of phosphates, care should be exercised to procure the genuine Bitro-Phosphate.

Heat in your Engine Causes Sediment

The terrific heat in your engine breaks down lubricating oil and causes sediment. Sediment decreases power and increases wear. To reduce sediment to the minimum specify a lubricating oil made especially to resist heat.

Veedol is made by the Faulkner Process, which reduces sediment 80%. Scientific tests have proved this. A road test will confirm it.

SPEAKER TRYING TO PLAY AND RUN CLUB

Others at Head of Cleveland Indians Fail to Make Good on Job

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Tris Speaker has become playing manager of the Cleveland Indians, despite the long trail left behind them by Nap Lajoie and Joe Birmingham.

Tris became leader of Jim Dunn's entry for the American league pennant because he was popular with fans and players. Everybody, it seemed, wanted Spoke to jump in and manage a ball club like he can hit. So he did after a vain fight against acceptance of such a post.

Well, that was why Nap Lajoie became manager of the old Cleveland Blues. The fans and players wanted him. There never was a more popular player anywhere. His hitting and graceful fielding at second base did it, just as Speaker's hitting and graceful fielding turned the trick for him. Why, Lajoie became so popular they even changed the team's name. They began to call it "Naps," and the name stuck for a long time.

Then there came trouble. The Blues slumped and slumped. Finally, in sheer self-protection Charlie Somers had to pick a new manager, and then later he had to pick another manager, who turned out to be another player—Joe Birmingham. And Joe did a fine job of it. He had his team fighting for a pennant for a brief spell and then the jealousies got in their work again. Joe stepped out of the way—and Lee Fohl, who had been a coach, took his place, holding it until the demand for Speaker was satisfied.

Fohl, so experts would have us believe, never was cut out for a major league manager. He doesn't rule strongly enough, it is contended, and made some errors that had the Cleveland club floundering where it should have been winning.

Speaker could take a lesson from a look back over the history of the club's managers, but he apparently is willing to take his chances, and it must be admitted the Indians are trotting along in fairly fast company with the renowned outfielder leading them.

Playing managers, it seems, are becoming all the rage again. Gavy Cravath, although doing most of his labor on the bench, still is regarded as a Philly player and often hits in the pinches.

There are rumors that George Stillings will be succeeded by a famous player.

BUCK IS KILLED IN ROUGH INYO COUNTRY

There is one deer less at large as the result of a two weeks' camping trip twenty-six miles back into the mountains of Inyo county. The party included F. B. Browning, Felton Browning, C. D. Holmes and A. H. Lawrence, all of Tustin.

The campers returned Saturday evening with the one deer brought down by Felton Browning. They left two weeks ago for Lone Pine and from there took pack trains for what is known as the Pot-hole country. It is exceedingly rough and for that reason not very generally used as a hunting ground. It is quite a common occurrence for campers who are not accustomed to the territory to lose themselves.

During their stay, only two camps from Orange were pitched beside their own. Game was plentiful, although the country seemed to need water badly. The streams were all very low.

Their camping ground was located in a beautiful section in full view of Mt. Langley and Whitney, which were capped by very little snow. The entire trip was exceedingly pleasant and upon their return short work was made of the venison.

Watching the Scoreboard

Once again Babe Ruth killed the pill for the full circuit, making it four in three days and 23 for the season. And the Red Sox again beat the Tigers 5 to 4.

The Reds got five runs on one hit in the seventh inning and beat the Phillies 7 to 3.

Tolson got a single off Walter Johnson with the bases full in the ninth and the Browns beat Washington 4 to 3.

Uhlie, a graduate of the sand lots, pitched for Cleveland and shut out the Athletics, 12 to 0.

The Yanks knocked James out of the box and beat the White Sox 6 to 5.

WHITE SOX NEAR PENNANT OF AMERICANS

Gleason's Bunch Have Lead of Six Games and Are Stepping Along

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The White Sox now seem to be the choice of the American League for the championship set to, with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Gleason tribe of white stockinged ones are now out in the front with a lead of six games over the Tigers. And they are going strong, having a run of ten straight victories, until yesterday when the Yankees set them one back.

Joe Jackson is mauling the pill again and his club means everything when it is working right. Collins, Weaver and Felsch form a combination with him that is hard to beat. And as to pitching—well, it seems that Cicotte and Williams can go out every other day and bring a game back with them.

Jennings has a formidable club that must be reckoned with, but the Tigers haven't been getting the breaks. Tris Speaker still maintains that his Indians have a look-in for the honors. But it seems to be a very remote chance.

However, the big opportunity of the Cleveland club comes this week and next. The Tigers open a three-game series at Cleveland today and then come the White Sox for a trio starting August 29.

If the Indians take all six and get any help from the other clubs of the league, the series MIGHT be played in Ohio.

McLOUGHLIN TO PLAY MATCH WITH CRAGIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—With fair weather prevailing, prospects seemed good for the postponed opening of the national singles championship tournament this afternoon at Forest Hills, L. I.

Play in the first of sixty-four matches scheduled for the day will start at 1 o'clock and will bring together as the feature opener Maurice E. McLoughlin, the California "comet" and Arthur S. Cragin.

'Round Coast League Bases

Owing to long jumps, two of them made still longer by the Los Angeles transportation strike, there will be no Coast League baseball today. Most of these postponed games will be played in double headers Saturday.

Vernon goes from Portland to Los Angeles and the Angels from their home lot to Portland. The Oaks come here from Seattle and the Bees journeyed to Rainierville from the bay region.

Curley Brown has again been eased out of the Coast League pitching premiership, this time by Crandall, also an Angel, who has won 21 and lost eight games. Brown has won 17 and lost seven.

BOUTS AT VERNON
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Steve Walton and Young George will ring down the curtain at Vernon tonight. Bud Starr and Frank May will furnish the semi-windup. A fast preliminary is expected when Cliff Brinker and Eddie Hamlin meet.

JUNE BUGS HALT BAND BY FLYING IN HORNS

VERMILLION, Ohio, Aug. 26.—June bugs and the village band at its regular Sunday evening concert, came together. The bugs won. They clogged the horns, disharmonized the instruments, blinded the musicians and covered the music, finally causing the concert to be abandoned in disgust. Though the bugs won, thousands of them lay dead on the public square to mark the scene of the conflict.

CHAPMAN WELL IS BOY, 5, DRINKS
SUPPLYING GAS DEATH POTION;
TO ANAHEIM LIFE SAVED

Product Is Carried In Six Swallows Mouthfuls of Poison Inch Pipe From Plant He Finds In the on Ranch Yard

ANAHEIM, Aug. 26.—Anaheim is being supplied by the Southern Counties Gas Company with gas direct from the big Chapman well brought in by the Union Oil Company. The product goes into one of the lines of the company but does not reach Santa Ana, as the pressure from the well is not sufficient to force the gas here. It requires about 150 pressure to force gas to Santa Ana and the Chapman well pressure varies from 90 to 120.

The gas from this well is delivered by the Union Oil Company, owners of the well, to the Southern Counties Gas Company at the well, and the gas company brings the commodity in a six-inch cast-iron main a distance of three miles to the corner of Lemon and Sycamore streets where it is turned into the city mains and laterals.

The pressure on the company's six-inch main at this point averages about 120 pounds to the square inch and as the pressure on the city mains must be kept down to 25 or 30 pounds, a reducer is established where the pipes connect. This reducer is not automatic, but will be in time, and at present it is found necessary to have a man stationed there continually to see that the pressure on the city pipes does not exceed 30 pounds, and he turns a wheel forward and backward to regulate it. Two men are on the job, each taking a 12-hour shift. J. W. Sample of this city has the day shift and O. Burnett of Buena Park watches the gauges at night.

HEFFERN WELL LOOKS LIKE A PRODUCER

ANAHEIM, Aug. 26.—Aside from a somewhat complicated fishing job the Heffern well gives promise of coming in as one of the wonders of the local oil fields.

A bit, a new-fangled affair for this field, after doing most remarkable work for several days became stuck in the hole made for the eight-inch pipe and refuses positively to go either up or down. There is no telling how long it will take to clear the hole and continue on to the oil sand.

From 2890 feet to 2940 the well was continually shooting out gas, oil and water. In fact from the time brown shale was entered at 2860 feet the hole has been showing great quantities of oil and gas and E. K. Benchley of Fullerton, the head of the syndicate, says that he is confident that one of the greatest wells of this part of the state is about to be brought in.

COURTHOUSE NEWS
$1800 UNPAID AS

DEAL, CLAIM

Action Brought to Secure the Balance Alleged Due As Commission

Action to secure the payment of an alleged unpaid balance of $1800 on a real estate commission has been brought by Attorney Clyde Bishop on behalf of W. C. Rowell against Walter A. Cook.

The property, located on Prospect avenue, Tustin, was sold, according to the complaint on file today, for a consideration of $56,000. The purchaser was H. L. Wakeham, of Greenville.

Rowell's complaint sets forth that on September 11, 1918, Cook employed him to secure a purchaser for the property.

The following memorandum is alleged to have been given Rowell by Cook:

Quotes Memorandum.
"Listing—Walter A. Cook home place on Prospect avenue, Tustin district.

"Designation—9.50-100 acres, four-year-old Valencia oranges; 8.50-100 acres, two-year-old Valencia oranges, trees set in April; 9-room, up-to-the-minute house, garage and barn, S. A. V. I. Co. water stock.
"Price $50,000. Clear; might take a good bean ranch in on terms $20,000 cash deal if priced right and good stuff. I appoint W. C. Rowell my exclusive agent to sell the above-described property, and in case of sale I agree to pay a commission of 5 per cent of selling price. Forfeit divided equally between owner and agent if sale is not consummated.

(Signed)—W. A. COOK.
"Address Prospect Ave., Tustin, Santa Ana, Cal., Sept. 11th, 1918."

Rowell in his complaint alleges that on or about July 23, 1919, he found a buyer for the property and brought about a sale whereby Cook received $56,000.

Payment has been demanded by Rowell the complaint sets forth, but only $1000 has been paid. There is now owing a balance of $1800, according to the complaint.

MYSTERY MAN ROBS WOMAN OF WATCHES

Had Mrs. H. W. Bogardus of Brea acted on her suspicions she might not today be the loser of three valuable gold watches, stolen from her home a half mile north of the Brea school.

The theft took place in broad daylight. According to the report made by Mrs. Bogardus to Deputy Charles Holbrook, who made an investigation of the case at Brea today, as she was driving from her home in her automobile she noticed an unkempt stranger, evidently a tramp, walking in the direction of her house.

Mrs. Bogardus stated that at the time she had suspicions of the stranger, but that she dismissed her misgivings from her mind, and continued on her way.

When she returned to her home she saw at once that the house had been entered during her absence. Bureaus had been ransacked and papers were strewn about.

One of the stolen watches was valued at $125, and the other two at approximately $75.

CROSS COMPLAINT IS FILED IN TITLE SUIT

In an amended answer and cross-complaint on file in the office of the county clerk today W. A. Cornelius, former Newport Beach resident and now agent of the Internal Revenue Service and defendant in a suit to quiet title brought by P. V. K. Johnson of Los Angeles, it is stated that Cornelius bought the property in the case, a lot at East Newport, at public auction, following the property from delinquent taxes. Johnson is the party to whom the lot was last assessed before the date of the sale. In his cross-complaint Cornelius sets forth that a delinquent tax list and a notice of the sale had been mailed to Johnson and that he, Cornelius, is now the owner of the property. Head and Rutan are attorneys for Cornelius.

OLD MAN HIGH COST IS SLAPPING COUNCIL IN FACE

FINAL PROGRAM WILL FEATURE SANTA ANA COMPOSER

Claude E. Shkelton's Victory
March to Be Given First Rendition

The Victory March, composed by Claude E. Shkelton, organist at the Episcopal church, will be featured in the concert program to be given tomorrow evening at Birch Park by Elks' band, and the Black Hills March, copyrighted and published by Mrs. John H. Klein of this city, will be rendered in compliance with the request of a number of local people. The Victory March will be played for the first time from manuscript.

Tomorrow night's concert will conclude the summer series of these popular weekly entertainments by the band, and local citizens will have to be content to get along without brass music except at such times as they may be able to get "an earful" on special occasions when the band is called into public.

The organization, composed as it is of musicians who will rank with the best in the state, has won the hearts of local people in the series this season, and has fully demonstrated that it is up and coming.

Conductor W. Frank Harris has had numerous requests for special pieces and finds it impossible to take care of all of them in the regular program. He has added one number to the program and for that reason the final program will start earlier, commencing at 8 instead of 8:15 o'clock. Many of the requests will be rendered, however, as encores. Every selection on the program is a requested number.

Following is the program:

1. March—Cavalry Soldier
2. Fantasia—On themes from standard operas.....Beyer
3. (a) Victory March.....Claude E. Shkelton
- (b) Sweetest Story Ever Told.....Stults
4. Uncle Tom—Dream Picture of South.....Lampe
5. (a) Black Hills March.....Burri
- (b) Novelty—For Trombones.....Carlton
6. Selection—Faust.....Gounod
7. Popular—Till We Meet Again.....Whiting
8. Finale—Star Spangled Banner.

To the Elks' Band

'Tis music, sweet music, brings rest to the mind
When burdened with cares of this life
'Tis music will make heaven far more dear
And bring rest down here midst the strife.

The music you're giving at the close of the day
Brings joy to the young and the old;
'The good you are doing to others this way
Will to you in this life ne'er be told.

We were pleased to see the boy in the band;
How well he is filling his place!
He is doing his best to make good after a while
When someone else falls in the race.

You have given this music one night each week;
You have searched for the best in the land;
So here's for advancement, good luck, and good will
To each member enrolled in the band.

Mad Eel Stands On Tail, Bites F. Blauer's Thumb

THIS is a right slippery story. It's about an eel—a big fellow who lived at Laguna Beach and who stood on its "hind legs" and tried to bite off the end of Fred Blauer's thumb. Blauer says it was the first time he ever saw an eel walk.

As Blauer's party walked along the beach Sunday, a small eel was seen and one of the ladies expressed a wish to get it, as it is a great table delicacy for some people.

The little fellow was obtained but later, when all were seated in a cove, a great big eel was seen in the water and Blauer ran out to capture it, kicking the slimy sea creature out onto the sand.

Suddenly the eel rose up on its tail in its anger and grabbed the groceryman's thumb, slitting the nail and badly lacerating the member.

The party did not care to eat any of the eel after it acted so mean so they stoned it to death. The lady with the small eel threw it back into the water, saying she didn't "want any of the ornery thing."

While Blauer suffered considerable pain on Sunday, he does not expect any serious results.

MOVES WORKERS OF RED CROSS TO IRKUTSK

A cable dispatch announcing the removal of Red Cross workers from Omsk, Russia, is of much interest here by reason of the fact that among the nurses with headquarters at Omsk was Miss Reba Dobson, daughter of Dr. G. H. Dobson of Santa Ana. A letter from Miss Dobson, published in the Register last week, stated that she was starting at that time, July 4, to a point nearer the front to nurse a Red Cross doctor who was ill. Since she was under the direction of the Red Cross at Omsk, it is more than likely that she, too, was among those moved.

Irkutsk is about half way between Vladivostok and Omsk. The dispatch, written in the interior on July 25, reads as follows:

"OMSK (Friday) July 25.—(By Courier to Vladivostok).—All the American women Red Cross workers at Omsk, approximately sixty, were recently ordered sent to Irkutsk by Roland S. Morris, American ambassador to Japan, who came to Omsk to make an investigation of the Kolchak government.

"Government circles are dismayed, the belief being expressed that the removal of the Red Cross workers is calculated to precipitate a panic at Omsk, where nervous tension already is running high. M. Soukine, acting minister of foreign affairs in the Kolchak government, requested that the removal of the women be accomplished with the utmost secrecy."

RESIGN PUBLIC JOBS; PAY IS NOT ENOUGH

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Frank Hall, special assistant United States attorney-general, in charge of the government's oil land litigation in the west, and Albert E. Chandler, president of the state water commission, with offices in this city, resigned today. Hall and Chandler will be associated with Judge Thomas E. Haven of the district court of appeals, who also tendered his resignation recently.

Like many others in the state and federal service who have quit their posts within the past few months, Hall and Chandler assign as their one reason for resigning the high cost of living. Although his salary has been $8,000, Hall declares that it would not suffice in these days. Chandler has received $5,000 a year as head of the water commission.

Hall has achieved national fame for his successful prosecutions of big cases involving fraud against the government in connection with oil, timber and coal land deals in the western states. He was formerly United States attorney in Oklahoma. Later he became a leading railroad attorney in Missouri. He joined the legal staff of the United States to direct the prosecution of the famous Colorado coal land fraud cases. Subsequently he handled the government's case against the Southern Pacific oil land grants in Nevada and Washington. He won a verdict of $90,000 for the government in the Hammond lumber case involving alleged timber frauds in Montana.

Chandler, whose home is in Berkeley, is well known as one of the foremost engineers in the United States. He has been with the state water commission since its creation seven years ago. Chandler was formerly with the United States reclamation service in Washington and at one time held the office of state engineer in Nevada.

SNAKE KILLS COW

WAYNESBOROUGH, Pa., Aug. 26.—George Woodring, tenant on the Stoner farm, south of Waynesborough, lost a young cow as the result of being bitten by a large copperhead snake. Notwithstanding that a veterinary surgeon from Waynesborough was summoned, he could not remove the effects of the poison. Copperheads and rattlesnakes are very plentiful here.

NEW LAW WILL CALL FOR FEW CHANGES HERE IN WAGES

Fresh and Dried Fruit Packing Houses Already Pay
the Minimum

Minimum wages for women and minors employed in factories and in fresh and dried fruit packing establishments recently ordered by the Industrial Welfare Commission became effective throughout California today. These provide $13.50 per week as the minimum wage for experienced women and experienced minors in these industries.

The new law will call for a few changes in packing houses in Orange county. All of the packing houses, so far as could be learned today, are already paying wages that meet the minimum, and have been all summer.

All of the packing houses are keeping close tab on the ages of minors who are employed by them. Minors under 16 years of age cannot be employed on inside work, and those under age cannot be employed over eight hours a day.

On the sorting tables the wage scales of the citrus packing houses for women vary, according to the skill and experience of the workers, but raises will not have to be made in order to meet the wage scale set by the state commission.

"If the packing houses were not paying better than the minimum named by the state they would not be able to keep their women," said a citrus man today.

Orange packers are paid five cents a box, and it is a poor packer who cannot pack over sixty boxes a day. C. C. Cellins Company, where much of the dried apricots of this section are packed, opened the season with wages that meet the minimum set by the new rules, and will not have to make any raises to meet the state minimum.

A summary of the new regulations follows:

$10 Week Minimum

In the manufacturing industry, adult female apprentices will be paid not less than $10 per week for the first three months, not less than $12 per week for the second three months, and a minimum of $13.50 a week thereafter. Minor apprentices have an ap-

Two Girls Clad In Bathing Suits Take Airplane Jaunt

Virginia Fox, Jane Allen and Lieut. Walter Hinton

Telephone For Clothes at the End of Trip and Wear
Aviation Coats

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—How would you like to take a ride high in the clouds in an airplane, clad in a bathing suit?

Cold? Yes, perhaps. However, this feature of the trip didn't bother Virginia Fox and Jane Allen, two of Mack Sennett's movie girls, when they wanted a ride.

They were introduced to Lieut. Walter Hinton, pilot of the famous N. C. 4. He was about to start from Port Washington to Manhattan. The girls were ready for a swim, but instead asked Hinton for a ride.

Yes, he would take them if they could arrange to get some clothes when they arrived. The girls got busy on the telephone and made the arrangements. Then Hinton bundled them up in aviation coats and away they went.

CITY ASSESSOR, COLLECTOR IS SOLUTION TO SITUATION

Wage and Other Increased
Costs Get Board In
Deep Water

With Old Man High Cost of Living slapping the city council in the face right and left and sparring for an opportunity to land a solar plexus, the council is becoming groggy and is about ready to throw up the sponge so that it can get time to catch its breath and recuperate its finances by laying the foundation for means of shipping a little more cash into the city exchequer.

The ways and means of producing the wealth for operation of the city will be by slipping back to the plan of maintaining a city assessor and city tax collector. Limited to a certain tax rate by state law, the council finds itself in deep water in the stream of finances. Under the county assessment and tax limit money sufficient to meet the demands of the city are not obtainable, and the only way to remedy the shortage is to have a city assessor so that assessable valuations can be increased.

The council last night went the limit of the state rate in fixing the tax rate for the coming year, and yet shows a decrease of 14 cents over that of last year. The rate will be $1.45 against $1.59 last year. The decrease is accounted for by the elimination of a special property tax of 10 cents collected the past few years, which has been declared illegal by City Attorney Scott, and reduction in some of the bond funds, the latter reduction being possible through the retirement of bonds.

Wages Are Raised

Wages of street and water department employees were last night raised 15 cents a day for those employees who are receiving $3.10 and $3.25 per day. "That's the limit," declared Trustee Chapman and other members of the council echoed the sentiment. It came as a conclusion of the discussion of wage increases. It is not because the councilmen do not want to pay a better wage but because they have reached the limit of their resources as allowed by the state.

GOOD SLAP

Wage and Other Increased
Costs Get Board In

tainable under the state rate with the county collecting city taxes on the county assessed valuations.

Santa Ana is getting to be some metropolitan and the managing board is considerably handicapped by a shortage of funds in carrying out plans for city department work as it would like to.

"We have reached the point where we must return to the city making its own assessments and collecting the taxes," declared Tubbs. "It is too late to make the change for this year, but we must prepare for it for next year. We cannot conduct the affairs of the city in the manner they should be with the amount of taxes we can raise under the present plan."

All members of the council voiced the same opinion and when the next assessing and collecting season rolls around Santa Ana will have assessing and collecting departments.

Denied Permit
The Highway Transportation Company has again been denied a permit to operate an auto freight carrying line into Santa Ana. This is the second time it has been refused a permit. It has been granted permits by the county, Anaheim, Fullerton and Orange.

Reporting for a committee appointed to investigate the application, Tubbs declared that the company had as yet secured no equipment, although it had been some months since the company made its first application.

The committee took the position that in view of the fact that the company had not commenced operations, and had no equipment, that the city might be giving the company something that it could turn into cash by selling to someone else, and without investing anything beyond what expense it has been in securing the permits.

Doubt has developed as to whether one of the two companies now operating into Santa Ana has filed its schedule of rates with the railroad commission, and it is believed that if the application were granted the Highway Transportation Company, the company that has failed to file its schedule would be forced out of business by the commission and the new company permitted to take its place.

The board expressed the opinion that the Highway Transportation Company should first start its operations and then come before the council for a permit to operate in this city.

Hasn't Secured Permit
C. T. Pond, representing the petitioners, stated that his company had not started operations because it had not yet secured a permit from this city. He declared that equipment was bought before the armistice was signed and had lain idle. Tariffs and schedules had been filed with the railroad commission and as Santa Ana was mentioned in the schedule it would be necessary to secure the permit before operations were started, else it would have to go through all the cities again and secure permits when the right to operate here was given. He declared his company proposed to make Santa Ana the terminal point and operate with Santa Ana as the main station rather than Los Angeles.

Responsibility of the property owners in keeping their premises clear of weeds ends at the curb, according to decision of the council last night.

The point as to whether the property owner should clear to the center of the street was brought up by Joseph Krock, who resides on West Fifth street. He asked whether under the weed cleaning law now being enforced by the city the owner should keep the weeds out of the gutter and called particular attention to conditions obtaining in West Fifth street west of the Mercereau store to the city limits.

Under the law the property owner is responsible for keeping his property clean to the center of the street, but the council took the position that inasmuch as the street was public property the city should clean the gutters and streets. On Greenleaf's motion the city will clear the streets from curb to curb.

Motor Equipment
Motor equipment for the fire, police and street department has been decided on and the clerk was authorized to advertise for a two-ton truck and two-ton trailer. The police and fire commissioners had decided the character of machines they wanted for their departments and were authorized to buy a Dodge roadster for the fire chief and a Dodge touring car for the chief of police. The fire chief's car will be painted red and both cars will be lettered to denote the department.

Mayor Mitchell approved the purchase of the truck but opposed the purchase of the automobiles on the ground that the city could not afford at this time to use money for the purpose. He was alone in his opposition, the other members voting for the purchase of the machines.

Again the establishment of an industrial district for Santa Ana is before the city council, having been brought up by Greenleaf, who expressed the belief that the time has arrived for decisive action.

The matter was taken up a year or more ago when committees were appointed by the council, Chamber of Commerce and M. and M. Association. Several conferences were held, but nothing ever was reported back to the council.

Greenleaf and Dale were appointed a committee to work on the project, both having served in the work before. Dale as a member of the M. and M. and Greenleaf as a member of the council committee.

Camp Grounds for Tourists Only
The auto parking grounds on West Walnut are for auto tourists only and are not intended as a place for people to camp permanently, when working in the city.

Street Superintendent Hoy reported that three families had been on the grounds for several weeks, having been unloaded there from a truck. Camps have been established. He wanted to know what the council's intention was as to character of campers and time limit. The council emphatically protested against the grounds being used by campers traveling in horse-drawn vehicles or by people who came to the city to remain for a long time while employed.

The grounds are intended as a convenience to the automobile traveling public, and any legitimate touring party will be permitted to occupy the premises for any reasonable time, but not on permanent campers, also gypsies.

DISABLED YANKS' TRAINING IS SPEEDED

Nearly 1000 Cases a Day Are Being Reviewed by the Central Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Disabled soldiers and their families have been concerned about the time consumed in arranging for training with the federal board for vocational education.

A knowledge of the procedure necessary for the board to legally place the man in training will do much to clear up this misunderstanding. The central case board is working at great pressure, as are the district boards. Almost 1,000 cases are being reviewed by the central case boards every day. These cases have been previously passed on by the district officers, but certain evidence must be in the possession of this central board before the man's case may be approved. The official army discharge and the military or naval medical report are very essential.

These documents are the proof that the disability was incurred while in the service, or that it is in some way traceable to such service. Having established these facts, the board must determine that the man's disability is the cause of a vocational handicap that must be overcome through a course of training. The new vocation for which the man is to be trained must be examined, with the view to its suitability and the man must be steered away from overcrowded occupations.

The process reads smoothly. But note the obstacles: Discharge papers are missing and it takes time to get duplicates, medical certificates are lost, and more time is wasted in renewing them. Insufficient evidence on vital points must be completed. Time is consumed in supplying the facts which must be in the possession of the board before government money can be used for training.

In some instances men must be brought to the district offices for personal interviews on examinations. Personal desires must be considered in the light of economic advantages. In other words, the re-education of disabled soldiers, sailors and marines is a great big human problem, the man's future is at stake,—he must, if possible, attain independence as well as satisfaction; the best interests of the community is in the balance, non-productive citizenship must be controlled. Thoroughness in investigation is the right of the disabled man. A little forethought in securing beforehand the necessary evidence and a little patience on the part of the public will help in the accomplishment of the work.

Council Notes
Union Oil Company was granted permission to locate an oil station at the southwest corner of Broadway and Third, on the Minter property. It is to be the location of the Trickey station, which is to be moved from the corner of Broadway and Sixth to give way to a modern brick building.

Application of W. O. Shank for permission to install two 50-gallon gasoline tanks underground at his residence at 837 Riverine avenue was referred to Greenleaf and Dale.

Contract for paving Maple street from First to Chestnut was awarded Steele Finley on his bid of 15 cents per square foot, cost of intersection at Walnut and Maple to be borne by property half a block each way from the intersection.

Contract for paving Grand avenue was awarded to the Orange County Engineering & Construction Company at 14 cents per square foot. Wells & Bressler submitted a bid of 15.6 per foot.

Check for $1280.18 from the Pacific Telephone & Telephone Company was accepted, being 2 per cent of the earnings of the company for the year ending August 19, 1919. The earnings upon which the franchise tax was paid amounted to $64,008.81, according to the statement rendered.

Action on petitions filed by Steele Finley for paving Twentieth street east from Main to the Southern Pacific tracks, and Pine from Hickory to Cedar was deferred to the next meeting.

The tax rate was apportioned as follows: General fund, 55 cents; street, 30; library, 15 (an increase of 5 cents over last year); fire, 10; sewer bonds, 3; water bonds No. 2, 7½; water bonds No. 3, 2; water bonds No. 4, 1; city hall bonds, 1½; N. Main street bridge bonds, 4; fire bonds, N. Flower street bridge bonds, music, parks and advertising, 1 each; sewer, 5; total, $1.44.

Street Superintendent Hoy was authorized to proceed with the clearing of weeds on properties on West Fourth and West Fifth streets and charge the cost to property owners.

Resolution ordering certain streets posted for clearing of weeds was adopted.

Sidewalking and curbing on Myrtle, Garvey and Parton streets, in the Polytechnic tract, were ordered in where the work has not already been done.

Oiling of Bristol street is to be undertaken if the property owners on the street from Fourth south to the county paving will pay half the cost of the oil.

City attorney was directed to prepare an ordinance providing for local inspection and fumigation of second-hand mattresses, clothes and bedding brought into the city. The action was taken on the recommendation of Sanitary Inspector Chandler, who said that the season of epidemics is again near at hand and that second-hand goods being brought in from Los Angeles and elsewhere, were possible sources of epidemics.

DISABLED YANKS' TRAINING IS SPEEDED

Nearly 1000 Cases a Day Are Being Reviewed by the
Central Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Disabled soldiers and their families have been concerned about the time consumed in arranging for training with the federal board for vocational education.

A knowledge of the procedure necessary for the board to legally place the man in training will do much to clear up this misunderstanding. The central case board is working at great pressure, as are the district boards. Almost 1,000 cases are being reviewed by the central case boards every day. These cases have been previously passed on by the district officers, but certain evidence must be in the possession of this central board before the man's case may be approved. The official army discharge and the military or naval medical report are very essential.

These documents are the proof that the disability was incurred while in the service, or that it is in some way traceable to such service. Having established these facts, the board must determine that the man's disability is the cause of a vocational handicap that must be overcome through a course of training. The new vocation for which the man is to be trained must be examined, with the view to its suitability and the man must be steered away from overcrowded occupations.

The process reads smoothly. But note the obstacles: Discharge papers are missing and it takes time to get duplicates, medical certificates are lost, and more time is wasted in renewing them. Insufficient evidence on vital points must be completed. Time is consumed in supplying the facts which must be in the possession of the board before government money can be used for training.

In some instances men must be brought to the district offices for personal interviews on examinations. Personal desires must be considered in the light of economic advantages. In other words, the re-education of disabled soldiers, sailors and marines is a great big human problem, the man's future is at stake,—he must, if possible, attain independence as well as satisfaction; the best interests of the community is in the balance, non-productive citizenship must be controlled. Thoroughness in investigation is the right of the disabled man. A little forethought in securing beforehand the necessary evidence and a little patience on the part of the public will help in the accomplishment of the work.

HUNS ORDER KAISER'S PICTURE FROM SCHOOLS

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The Kaiser's picture is to be taken out of the schools. The proposal provoked considerable discussion, and many members of the Prussian assembly were opposed to it.
